NORTHWEST PAPER CO. IMPROVES ITS PLANT

BELIEVED CLOSE TO $200,000 IS TO BE EXPENDED

EXCAVATIONS UNDER WAY FOR BASEMENT OF 100x124 FOOT ADDITION

WILL HOUSE RESERVE TANKS.
CAPACITY OF 100 TONS OF GROUND PULP

The Northwest Paper Company has begun additions and improvements to its Brainerd mill which when completed will amount to about $200,000 it is believed, although no definite figures could be obtained as to the costs.

Excavation are being made now for the basement of an addition to the main building at the mill, which is to be 100 feet by 124 feet, one story in height, constructed of brick to conform with the appearance of the balance of the building. It is expected that the brick work will be started next week.

In the basement of this new addition will be located reserve tanks with a capacity of 100 tons of ground pulp. On the main floor will be installed a battery of three wet machines to supplement those already in use in the main building. There will also be much storage space in the new part, which will eventually be used for additional beater machines when occasion demands.

With the increase of floor space and the addition of more machinery, it will be necessary to increase the paper-making capacity of the mill, and this will be done by making a number of important and expensive changes and improvements to the big paper-making machine, changing the gears and the methods of drying the paper, so that the machine's speed will be increased to the point that the mill's capacity will be about 20 per cent greater.

More power in the grinding rooms will be necessary so that more wood can be ground to meet the increased capacity of the paper mill. This will be accomplished in a rather unique manner, by literally raising the head of water at the dam without increasing the height of that dam. This is being accomplished by extending the draft tubes, which carry the water through the giant turbines, down lower than at present, so that the bottom of these tubes will be on a level with the river below the dam, thus giving a head of water 18 inches deeper than at present.

There are 10 such draft tubes and turbines in the dam, and each one has to be rebuilt separately so that the work of the others may go on and the grinding kept up without any delays. It is expected that this work will not be completed until well into the winter. Extensions in improvements will also be made in the grinder room and power house located in the dam, all with the idea in mind of producing more power and speeding up the mill's capacity.

Such extensive and important improvements to the mill, while increasing its capacity, will also ultimately mean the employment of more men, making a larger payroll for the company's Brainerd plant, than it has ever had in the past.

The Northwest Paper Company is demonstrating its confidence in the city of Brainerd in a very substantial manner, and it is believed that the improvements now under way will call for still others in the future, all of which will do much to build up the city and increase its output of manufactured products.

MILL CITY MAN DRANK ACID POISON

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Paul Marth, 37, single, collapsed and died in a soft drink saloon. A post-mortem revealed a "quantity of acid poison" in his stomach. His parents live in Minneapolis.

Frankish Escapes

Mankato. — Two persons cheated death by freakish escapes Wednesday when an explosion wrecked a two-story building here. Loss was estimated at $20,000. Rex Trautman, truck driver, escaped serious injury when a beam fell across his car.

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—While hundreds looked on Fred Wilson was run down and crushed to death by his own automobile here last night.

Wilson's car stalled on a busy street. He cranked it, forgetting it was in gear. The small sedan leaped forward and Wilson hung on to the radiator only to have it crash against a police and fire alarm post and crush him to death.

JURY SAYS THE DRAKE HOTEL BANDITS TO HANG

NO RECOMMENDATION OF MERCY GIVEN BY CHICAGO JURORS

NEITHER OF THE SLAYERS SHOWED ANY EMOTION AT VERDICT

Chicago, Sept. 17.—(UP)—The Drake hotel bandits must hang, a jury decided early today after a night of balloting. A verdict of guilty of first degree murder was returned at 5:18 a. m. It carried no recommendation for mercy.

Neither of the slayers, Joe Homes and Jack Woods, showed any emotion when the verdict was announced.

The murder of Frank B. Rodkey occurred during a spectacular holdup of the fashionable Drake Hotel in July. Rodkey was assistant cashier. Five bandits entered the lobby. They seized $67,500 and killed Rodkey. One bandit was killed in a battle with police, two were captured and one escaped.

Judge Jacob Hopkins will not pass formal sentence until after hearing a motion for a new trial on October 3.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe said the verdict was a great victory for law and order.

Mrs. Rodkey, widow of the slain cashier, declared she had received justice and was satisfied.

PLESIOSAURUS REMAINS MILLION YEARS OLD FOUND

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Fossilized remains of a 75 foot plesiosaurus of the chalk period have been uncovered by W. C. Gowdy on his ranch near Fielder, the State Historical department announced.

From 25 neck vertebrae excavated, scientists of the state museum have visualized the plesiosaurus which once roamed the plains where cattle now graze as a weird reptile which fought with dinosaurs of the same prehistoric period for existence.

The petrified bones have been presented to the state museum here.

DONATES BUSINESS TO MAN WHO WORKED FOR HIM 41 YEARS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 17.—(UP)—After 50 years in the cutlery and locksmith business here, Walter F. Balseh, 65, has donated his business to George Rathmann, 55, his faithful understudy for 41 years. It was the first and only job Rathmann ever had.

NATIONAL AIRCRAFT PROBE GETS UNDER WAY TODAY

BY LUDWELL DENNY,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 17.—The national aircraft investigation got under way with speed and precision. Meeting with President Coolidge in the cabinet room at the White House, the nine board members organized and formulated procedure of investigations.

Dwight W. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Co., a college mate and close friend of the president, was chosen chairman.

Judge Arthur C. Danison, Grand Rapids, Mich., was made vice chairman, and William F. Durand, president of the Institute of Mechanical Engineering, Los Angeles, secretary.

The meeting opened in secret session at 11 A. M. when for 30 minutes the president explained to the board his purpose in ordering the investigation.

He expressed the hope that complete impartiality and thoroughness would be shown and confidence that the board would be able to present findings to him upon which he could base recommendations for a governmental air policy to the next congress.

Board members indicated that the probe will be pushed and a report made to the president in time for presentation to congress in December. Full hearings will be given to the War and Navy departments to defend present policies and to such critics as Colonel William Mitchell to prove the alleged efficacy of radical changes.

A high official connected with the board today phrased the chief questions to be examined as follows:

1. Would the proposed unified separate air service increase efficiency of administration in peace and war?

2. Would increased government co-operation in developing commercial aircraft and regular legislation decrease accidents and establish an adequate reserve air force for war?

3. To what extent are inadequate appropriations and alleged poor administration of present appropriations responsible for lack of air preparations, if any?

War and Navy department officials said today they would try to prove that a unified air service in Great Britain had not been as successful as the American system.

DOCTORS TRACE RECORD OF INMATE OF REFORMATORY

ALL POSSIBLE CLUES FOLLOWED TO TRACE MURDER OF 8 YEAR BOY

AT COUNTY JAIL IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Doctors investigating the murder of 8-year-old Arthur Schumacher today were questioning inmates of the house of correction in an attempt to learn more about Edward Vreeland, who was pointed out by two companions of the slain boy as having chased them on the day Arthur disappeared, July 24.

Vreeland has been at the institution since early in August. He was taken into custody on a vagrancy charge two days after the Schumacher boy disappeared near the place where the decomposed body of the child was found.

Detectives yesterday found a blue coat at the county jail, left, according to a note attached by Vreeland, when he went to the house of correction. The man who chased Arthur Schumacher and his three companions from the freight train on which they were riding to a swimming hole, wore two coats, a light one and one dark, the boys said.

GRAY HAired STRANGER SOUGHT AS GIRL SLAYER

EDNA BOSWELL, 14 YEAR SCHOOL GIRL OF NORTH BEND, OHIO, MURDERED

SKULL CRUSHED, BODY WAS FOUND IN A CLUMP OF WEEDS

North Bend, O., Sept. 17.—(UP)—A gray haired stranger in this little farm community was sought by police today as the murderer of Edna Boswell, 14 year old school girl, whose broken body was found in a ravine near her home. She was attacked as she skipped along a wooded path on her way home from the grocery store late yesterday with things for supper.

Villagers told of seeing the girl with a "gray haired, worn looking working man," who waved goodbye to the girl and said:

"You go on, I'll be there."

When she had not returned home by dark, farmers organized a posse of 50 men to beat the woods. They found the body, skull crushed in and clothes torn, in a clump of weeds in the ravine.

FACE ARDUOUS TASK OF OPENING 500,000 CANS

Minneapolis, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Food and drug inspectors here face the arduous task of opening 500,000 cans of sardines.

The sardines are alleged to be below standard and may be ordered confiscated by the federal court.

If the order is issued every can will have to be opened and every sardine thrown away.

PARSEE COMMUNIST BARRED FROM U. S. BY SECY. KELLOGG

BOTH CONDEMNATION AND PRAISE SHOWERED UPON
SECRETARY OF STATE

AMERICAN VISA ON RADICAL'S BRITISH PASSPORT IS CANCELED

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Secretary of State Kellogg today assumed entire responsibility for barring Shapurji Saklatvala, Parsee communist and member of the British House of Commons, from this country.

Asked today after a conference with President Coolidge, whether the chief executive approved his action, Kellogg said:

"I assume entire responsibility. That is all I can say."

Kellogg held two conferences with the president yesterday before he announced that he was cancelling his American visa on the radical's British passport.

Saklatvala planned to come here to attend the annual meeting of the Interparliamentary Union next month.

Both condemnation and praise were showered upon Secretary of State Kellogg for his action in barring Shapurji Saklatvala. Senator Borah, Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and a noted exponent of free speech led with a statement that "the United States cannot afford to be more afraid than the British government to allow this man to express his opinion freely."

Kellogg cancelled the American visa for Saklatvala's passport in a cable to the American consul general after a conference with President Coolidge, who it is assumed approved the action.

The case promised to inspire a furor similar to the international controversy precipitated last spring by the muzzling of Count Karolyi of Hungary by Secretary Hughes and later by Kellogg, because of charges of radicalism.

"It is the policy of this government to exclude such persons from coming to this country," Kellogg said. "I do not believe in curbing

CHARGE TURKS AS COMMITTING MORE ATROCITIES

CHRISTIANS ASSAULTED IN GOYAN DISTRICT OF

London, Sept. 17.—(UP)—The Exchange Telegraph's Baghdad correspondent cabled today that 80 more destitute Christian refugees arriving at Zakho from the Goyan district of the Mosul area, charged that the Turks were committing atrocities against the Christians, resulting in many deaths.

They reiterated earlier charges that the Turks had expelled 8,000 Goyan Christians forcibly from their homes. The Turkish action was deemed by them an indication of treatment Christians might expect if the League of Nations' decision in the Mosul boundary dispute should be unfavorable to Turkey.

Turks at the League of Nations have answered the British charge of deportation in the Mosul zone with the claim that they believed no Christians were in the area. They promised, however, to inquire as to the charges.

HYLAN TO RETIRE, WILL NOT HEAD N. Y. 3RD PARTY

STATEMENT ACCEPTED TODAY
IN "NEW YORK AMERICAN"
OF HEARST

DISCUSSION NOW CENTERS ON WHO MAY LEAD THIS

New York, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Although Tammany believes that an independent ticket, backed by William R. Hearst, probably will be put into New York City's mayoralty field, Mayor John F. Hylan is not expected to head the defection.

Hylan's announcement that he would retire to private life is accepted in today's New York American, published by Hearst, as indicating he will not be a third party candidate in the November election. This acceptance prompted speculations as to others who might make an independent race for mayor.

Discussion has centered about Senator Royal S. Copeland, representative F. H. Laguardia and Supreme Court Justice John Ford. None of these has taken any notice of the discussion.

GIRL OF 13 SAVED BROTHER, AGE 10, FROM DROWNING

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Residents of Whitefish Bay today started a movement to obtain a medal for bravery for Dorothy Hartung, 13, whose heroic fight against waves and undercurrents of Lake Michigan, saved her brother Jack, 10, after he had waded beyond his depth. When Jack lost his footing Dorothy dived in and after a struggle brought him to shore.

FARMER THOUGHT DYING FOLLOWING FIGHT IN BANK

JACOB HALLDOM, ATWATER FAR-MER, WAS SHOT THREE TIMES

ALTERCATION AND ARGUMENT OCCURRED IN ANNAN-
DALE BANK

Annapolis, Minn., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Jacob Halldom, Atwater farmer, is believed dying at a Paynesville hospital today as a result of a fight in the State bank here yesterday.

Halldom was shot three times by Colin McDonald, son of W. B. McDonald, president of the bank. The Atwater farmer was told by his attorney to obtain possession of an abstract at the bank, concerning a piece of property over which Halldom and Jess Ray were making a deal. Halldom took the abstract and started out of the bank. Officers of the bank tried to stop him but Halldom, a powerful man, bested them. One of them obtained an iron bar, but Halldom took it away and attacked the group. Young McDonald obtained a revolver and shot Halldom in the right leg, then in the right arm. This failed to stop the enraged farmer, but a third shot in the abdomen dropped him. He may die.

McDonald was not held by police, who said he fired in self defense.

PRAIRIE CHICKENS ARE NUMEROUS

MANY HUNTERS SUCCEED IN BAGGING THE LIMIT

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Hunters who were on hand for the opening of the Minnesota season at dawn yesterday reported unusually plentiful game as they returned to the cities today.

Prairie chickens are especially numerous after two years' protection by closed seasons. Many hunters succeeded in bagging the limit of nine chickens and 12 ducks.

The number of licenses issued has not been compiled by officials, but will run into the thousands. In Minneapolis alone almost 10,000 have been issued.

RAILWAY ENGINEER DIED ON STREET CAR

LA FOLLETTE AND WORK CARRY PARTY DESIGNATIONS

ALL THE OTHERS WILL APPEAR AS INDEPENDENT ON THE BALLOT PRINTED

"YOUNG BOB" HEARING OF HIS VICTORY, THANKED VOT-ERS FOR SUPPORT

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—With practically complete returns of the primary showing an overwhelming victory for Robert M. LaFollette, two party candidates and at least four independents were "clearing the boards" today for the final race for United States senator, the election, Sept. 29.

While there are certain to be six in the final race, there is a possibility a seventh may also come in as a result of a ruling by Secretary of State Zimmerman.

LaFollette, by winning the republican nomination, and John M. Work, socialist, are the only names that will appear on the ballot at the election with a party designation. All the others must run as independents.

Roy P. Wilcox, runner up to LaFollette in the primary, filed for the final race when he entered the primary. Edward F. Dittmar, Baraboo, and Arthur R. Barry, also filed as independents.

As the result of Zimmerman's ruling, William George Bruce, the democratic party designation on the ballot, will again enter as an independent.

Daniel Woodward, Oshkosh, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan, whose surprising run in the primary gave him third place in the race, has also announced "I might possibly get into the final race."

While it was said he might enter the race by having some one who had filed as an independent, withdraw in his favor, it is also believed he may be able to get in on the strength of Zimmerman's ruling.

A sub-committee of the regular republican organization has been in session here Tuesday night. W. J. Campbell, executive secretary; Edward F. Dittmar, Roy P. Wilcox and others attended the meeting. While nothing has been given out as to the purpose of the meeting, there is every indication they are making plans for the election campaign in an effort to "put over their candidate."

"Young Bob" in hearing of his victory, thanked the voters for their support and ordered his leaders to get started on the election campaign work.

Work started his election campaign today with meetings at local industrial plants.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 17.—(UP)—The independent candidacy at the final election for United States senator of Daniel Woodward, defeated republican, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan, today received a blow when Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman stated that his informal, ruling yesterday affecting the candidacy of William George Bruce, democrat, does not refer to the republican party or any candidate on the republican ticket.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—(UP)—Public ownership of railroads and all monopolized industries, was urged by John M. Work, socialist candidate for United States senator, today in a speech to employees of a local plant. He also attacked Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., one of his opponents, for what he terms recession from the stand taken on public ownership by his father, the late Senator LaFollette.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—(UP)—While reports have been current that Roy P. Wilcox would withdraw from the race in the election on September 29, indications were today he would continue in the race. It is believed that Wilcox, having filed as an independent at the time of his filing for the primary will not withdraw under any conditions.

The Northwest Paper Company has begun additions and improvements to its Brainerd mill which when completed will amount to about $200,000 it is believed, although no definite figures could be obtained as to the costs.

Excavation are being made now for the basement of an addition to the main building at the mill, which is to be 100 feet by 124 feet, one story in height, constructed of brick to conform with the appearance of the balance of the building. It is expected that the brick work will be started next week.

In the basement of this new addition will be located reserve tanks with a capacity of 100 tons of ground pulp. On the main floor will be installed a battery of three wet machines to supplement those already in use in the main building. There will also be much storage space in the new part, which will eventually be used for additional beater machines when occasion demands.

With the increase of floor space and the addition of more machinery, it will be necessary to increase the paper-making capacity of the mill, and this will be done by making a number of important and expensive changes and improvements to the big paper-making machine, changing the gears and the methods of drying the paper, so that the machine's speed will be increased to the point that the mill's capacity will be about 20 per cent greater.

The Northwest Paper Company is demonstrating its confidence in the city of Brainerd in a very substantial manner, and it is believed that the improvements now under way will call for still others in the future, all of which will do much to build up the city and increase its output of manufactured products.

HYLAN TO RETIRE, WILL NOT HEAD
N. Y. 3RD PARTY

STATEMENT ACCEPTED TODAY
IN "NEW YORK AMERICAN"
OF HEARST

New York, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Although Tammany believes that an independent ticket, backed by William K. Hearst, probably will be put into New York City's mayoralty field, Mayor John F. Hylan is not expected to head the defection.

Hylan's announcement that he would retire to private life is accepted in today's New York American, published by Hearst, as indicating he will not be a third party candidate in the November election. This acceptance prompted speculations as to others who might make an independent race for mayor.

Discussion has centered about Senator Royal S. Copeland, representative F. H. Laguardia and Supreme Court Justice John Ford. None of these has taken any notice of the discussion.

GIRL OF 13 SAVED
BROTHER, AGE 10,
FROM DROWNING

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Residents of Whitefish Bay today started a movement to obtain a medal for bravery for Dorothy Hartung, 13, whose heroic fight against waves and undercurrents of Lake Michigan, saved her brother Jack, 10, after he had waded beyond his depth. When Jack lost his footing Dorothy dived in and after a struggle brought him to shore.

FARMER THOUGHT DYING FOLLOWING FIGHT IN BANK

JACOB HALLOM, ATWATER FAR-MER, WAS SHOT THREE TIMES

OCCURRED IN ANNAN-
DALE BANK

Annapolis, Minn., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Jacob Hallom, Atwater farmer, is believed dying at a Paynesville hospital today as a result of a fight in the State bank here yesterday.

Hallom was shot three times by Colin McDonald, son of W. B. McDonald, president of the bank.

The Atwater farmer was told by his attorney to obtain possession of an abstract at the bank, concerning a piece of property over which Hallom and Jess Ray were making a deal. Hallom took the abstract and started out of the bank. Officers of the bank tried to stop him but Hallom, a powerful man, bested them. One of them obtained an iron bar, but Hallom took it away and attacked the group. Young McDonald obtained a revolver and shot Hallom in the right leg, then in the right arm. This failed to stop the enraged farmer, but a third shot in the abdomen dropped him. He may die.

McDonald was not held by police, who said he fired in self defense.

PRAIRIE CHICKENS ARE NUMEROUS

MANY HUNTERS SUCCEED IN BAGGING THE LIMIT

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Hunters who were on hand for the opening of the Minnesota season at dawn yesterday reported unusually plentiful game as they returned to the cities today.

Prairie chickens are especially numerous after two years' protection by closed seasons. Many hunters succeeded in bagging the limit of nine chickens and 12 ducks.

The number of licenses issued has not been compiled by officials, but will run into the thousands. In Minneapolis alone almost 10,000 have been issued.

RAILWAY ENGINEER DIED ON STREET CAR

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—William Wilson, 65, for 45 years a railroad engineer and who had driven a locomotive over 2,000,000 miles died suddenly on a street car here last night while on his way to church.

LIVE TROLLEY WIRE SETS OFF MINE BLAST;
KILLS 2, INJURES 2

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Explosion of a charge of blasting powder cost the lives of two miners and seriously injured two others in the Tridelpia mine, six miles from here. A live trolley wire set off the charge.

LA FOLLETTE AND WORK CARRY PARTY
DESIGNATIONS

ALL THE OTHERS WILL APPEAR AS INDEPENDENT ON THE BALLOT PRINTED

"YOUNG BOB" HEARING OF HIS VICTORY, THANKED VOT-ERS FOR SUPPORT

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—(UP)—With practically complete returns of the primary showing an overwhelming victory for Robert M. LaFollette, two party candidates and at least four independents were "clearing the boards" today for the final race for United States senator, the election, Sept. 29.

While there are certain to be six in the final race, there is a possibility a seventh may also come in as a result of a ruling by Secretary of State Zimmerman.

LaFollette, by winning the republican nomination, and John M. Work, socialist, are the only names that will appear on the ballot at the election with a party designation. All the others must run as independents.

Roy P. Wilcox, runner up to LaFollette in the primary, filed for the final race when he entered the primary. Edward F. Dittmar, Baraboo, and Arthur R. Barry, also filed as independents.

As the result of Zimmerman's ruling, William George Bruce, the democratic party designation on the ballot, will again enter as an independent.

Daniel Woodward, Oshkosh, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan, whose surprising run in the primary gave him third place in the race, has also announced "I might possibly get into the final race."

While it was said he might enter the race by having some one who had filed as an independent, withdraw in his favor, it is also believed he may be able to get in on the strength of Zimmerman's ruling.

A sub-committee of the regular republican organization has been in session here Tuesday night. W. J. Campbell, executive secretary; Edward F. Dittmar, Roy P. Wilcox and others attended the meeting. While nothing has been given out as to the purpose of the meeting, there is every indication they are making plans for the election campaign in an effort to "put over their candidate."

"Young Bob" in hearing of his victory, thanked the voters for their support and ordered his leaders to get started on the election campaign work.

Work started his election campaign today with meetings at local industrial plants.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 17.—(UP)—The independent candidacy at the final election for United States senator of Daniel Woodward, defeated republican, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan, today received a blow when Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman stated that his informal ruling yesterday affecting the candidacy of William George Bruce, democrat, does not refer to the republican party or any candidate on the republican ticket.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—(UP)—Public ownership of railroads and all monopolized industries, was urged by John M. Work, socialist candidate for United States senator, today in a speech to employees of a local plant. He also attacked Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., one of his opponents, for what he terms recession from the stand taken on public ownership by his father, the late Senator LaFollette.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—(UP)—While reports have been current that Roy P. Wilcox would withdraw from the race in the election on September 29, indications were today he would continue in the race. It is believed that Wilcox, having filed as an independent at the time of his filing for the primary will not withdraw under any conditions.

Secretary Alfred Dillan in Statement is Optimistic Over Reaching $1,500 Goal

The first day of canvassing for the Y. M. C. A. funds boosted the total secured to $601, with only a few yet reporting. The heavy artillery is being unloosed today, and the workers expect that today's total will be up near hitting distance of the goal sought, which is $1,500.

One distinctive feature about the campaign seems to be the readiness on the part of all prospects to help along the work of the local Y. M. C. A. DEANS OF UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS OBJECT TO INTIMATIONS

WILL APPEAR BEFORE STATE LABOR FEDERATION TO DENY CHARGES

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Deans of the University of Illinois were to appear before the annual convention of the State Labor Federation today to deny broad intimations made on the convention yesterday that gambling and immorality are common in the social life of the campus.

The charge was made by Edwin Wright, former president of the State Federation and caused a debate in yesterday's session, Charles Fremont Neal, another labor delegate, championing the university.

Stenographic copies of Wright's speech were turned over to Thomas A. Clark, dean of men, and Miss Maria Leonard, dean of women. The deans said they would be glad to lay their side of the story before the convention.

DIKES BREAK AND YELLOW RIVER POURS FLOOD INTO CHINA

By RANDOLPH GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent
Peking, Sept. 17.—All crops over an area of 60 miles long and 13 miles wide have been destroyed by flood waters of the Yellow river, which have now surrounded 900 villages in Shantung province.

Dikes at Yung Chenshien broke beneath the swollen tides pouring waters over the vast area and the Yellow river shifted its course.

Emergency relief work has been started under the direction of the International Family Relief commission which is sending out boats as the only means of communication with the stricken districts.

The organization has sent a chief engineer to advise on relief measures and on control of the river.

CLAIM WHISKEY VALUED AT $1,200 AND BEER WERE CONFISCATED

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Two prominent resort owners and a farmer faced prohibition charges here today as a result of the first extensive drive of the reorganized enforcement unit of the Minnesota-Wisconsin-North Dakota district against illicit traffic along the Minnesota-Canadian border.

Disguised as hunters taking advantage of the season opening, prohibition agents took lodgings at one of the resorts, succeeded in purchasing beer and made arrangements to get whiskey, they said. In tracing the source of supply they raided the farm.

Whiskey valued at $1,200 and a quantity of beer were confiscated.

Ellis Walsh, former chief of police here and now proprietor of the Decaigne hotel, was charged with sale and transportation; L. R. Shively, postmaster at Vermilion Dam and proprietor of Vermilion Lodge, with sale and possession, and Chas. Vergoven, a farmer near here, with possession.

All were released on $1,000 bond when arraigned before United States Commissioner Otto A. Poirer.

A resolution asking repeal of the law has been drafted and is to be passed with other recommendations for defeating fraudulent stock operators this afternoon.

Travel Wardrobe Interests Women

Simplicity First Requisite—Comfort and Service
Are Next.

Nowadays, when everybody travels, a travel wardrobe is a subject of compelling interest, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times. When journeys were more incidental people took with them what they thought would serve their needs en route. They wore whatever they happened to have on hand. Now traveling clothes, like sports clothes of different sorts, are standardized, and there is a convention to which one prefers to conform, if possible. At no time is anything that resembles overdressing as out of place as in traveling, whether cross-country or aboard ship.

For those who are unaccustomed to travel everything apparently has been designed to suit every environment and to meet every contingency.

From experienced travelers one hears constantly the admonition to travel "light," to carry as few clothes as possible. Simplicity is the first requisite; comfort and service are next. All are emphasized in the latest designs. The simpler the traveling suit the smarter.

Whatever the individual type, a few general rules and specific points may be wisely followed. These are the conclusion of experienced travelers and their tailors. Aboard ship the tailored suit comes into its own—a plain short skirt, coat and blouse. With the present fashionable location of the waistline a straight overblouse is best, and this is equally good with the tailored skirt front so modish this season, an open collar and tie or the closed neck with an ascot or scarf treatment. This sort of suit is appropriate for most days and gives opportunity to wear a fur piece or wool scarf. It may be alternated with a one-piece frock or with a two-piece, consisting of skirt and overblouse or sweater. Tweeds, Scotch mixtures, plaids and plain worsted are the popular fabrics. A top coat is a requisite for general service.

The ensemble goes aboard in almost every smart trunk and is a very satisfactory ship costume. It is built upon a scheme quite different from that of the softer materials for town wear, being usually of light weight worsted, serge or flannel, combined with crepe.

IF YOU COULD SEE THE HEAT IN COAL

You would realize at once that a load of STANDARD COAL contains a full measure of heat and a load of ordinary unprepared coal only a short measure of heat.

The difference in heat value is due to the low ash content of STANDARD COAL and to the careful, systematic way in which STANDARD COAL is mined and cleaned, so that no visible, non-combustible impurities and wastes are shipped.

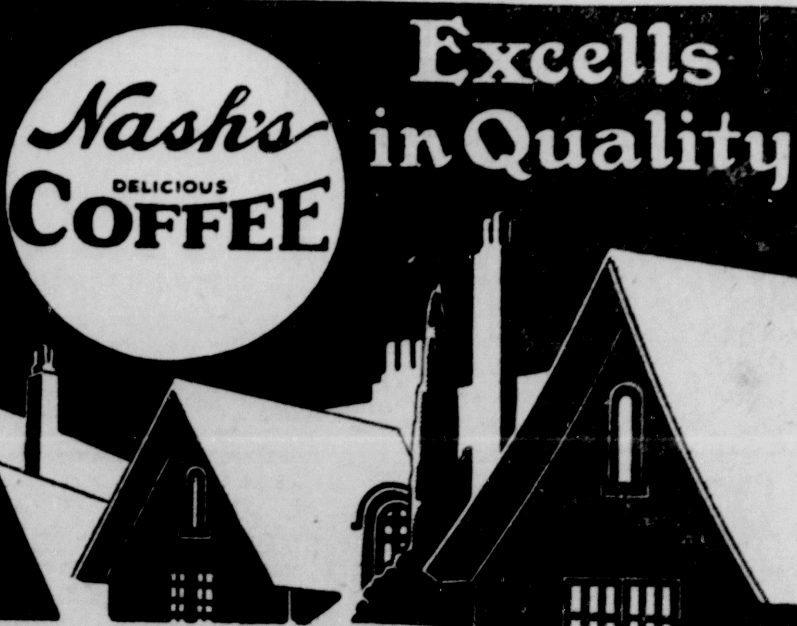

Freight charges are the same on STANDARD COAL as on the ordinary, unprepared, dirty coal. Delivered heat value alone counts. For a full measure of heat, use STANDARD COAL.

IF YOU COULD SEE THE HEAT IN COAL

You would realize at once that a load of STANDARD COAL contains a full measure of heat and a load of ordinary unprepared coal only a short measure of heat.

The difference in heat value is due to the low ash content of STANDARD COAL and to the careful, systematic way in which STANDARD COAL is mined and cleaned, so that no visible, non-combustible impurities and wastes are shipped.

Freight charges are the same on STANDARD COAL as on the ordinary, unprepared, dirty coal. Delivered heat value alone counts. For a full measure of heat, use STANDARD COAL.

OPEN DIPLOMACY

MANY important movements have sprung from the Y. M. C. A. To study them is to study national and international history, for they have come into being in response to great needs and great aspirations. They have grown into established places of usefulness and leadership in spiritual and economic fields. The Student Volunteer Movement, the World's Student Christian Federation, the Inter-Racial Commission, the Father and Son idea, the national thrift campaign are some of these movements.

Now another great idea, having its source and early nourishment in the Y. M. C. A., has taken definite form. The Institute of Pacific Relations, held in Honolulu in July, brought together men and women from the lands of the Pacific. They discussed social, industrial, political and religious issues affecting relationships among their countries. Those in attendance were not officials of governments, but persons whose experience and usefulness in important branches of life had proved their value as representatives.

In the character of this personnel and the character of the program is found the genius of the Institute. Set speeches were given a relatively unimportant place; dependence for making progress was placed on the Y. M. C. A. system of round-table discussions, with earnest effort to identify the issues, clearly see the divergent attitudes of the peoples of the various countries, and find points of agreement and mutual helpfulness. There was no illusion that great issues could be settled by resolution. The method followed produced good-will and a congenial atmosphere for group thinking. The New York Times said editorially:

"Persons at the conference were struck with the skepticism shown by most of the representatives of different groups upon arrival, and the confidence and friendship with which they came together as the conference led to frank discussions and interchange of views."

This application of the group discussion system to a consideration of international problems by representatives of a variety of races, its acceptance by all after several days of doubt and opposition, and its effect on the work seemed to some observers the high mark of the conference. Without this method it probably would have been "just another conference."

Another feature—one of special interest to Y. M. C. A. men—is the fact that here was an international conference, whose work is being carefully studied by many governments, initiated and fostered by the Y. M. C. A. along lines which gave it an independence of character and action and an atmosphere of good-will that could not have been more surely found through other means.

THE MITCHELL CASE

THE public doesn't want to see Col. Mitchell court martialed for conduct unbecoming an officer or for breaking this and that article of army conduct. Let that matter wait.

Investigate first the charges he has made against the air service. Let the people know to a certainty if desk bureaucrats are hampering the air service; if men who never flew a plane or dirigible are directing construction work. Also let the people know about taking seven safety valves off the Shenandoah and thus checking outlet of gas and interfering with the handling of the big airship.

Reprimanding Col. Mitchell or demoting him or casting him out of the service will not settle the ugly questions raised by Mitchell. The taxpayers of the nation, stirred up by Mitchell's statements, have a right to know what kind of an air service we have, what its methods are, what it intends to do.

TIMBER LINE RETREATING

CROOKSTON Lumber company sawing operations in Bemidji are about over. The mill was one of the first to operate in northern Minnesota and also one of the last in the entire Northwest to complete its sawing. Closing of the mill shuts off some 200 men from steady employment and also shuts down considerable logging operations. Bemidji now faces a period which Brainerd overcame by degrees when some five mills ceased lumber cutting in our town. The best thing to offset the loss of this industry is to build up the farming country.

Both Brainerd and Bemidji can cut a leaf from the experiences of Cloquet, which, anticipating the loss at some time of some of its wood working establishments, mills, etc., has gradually built up a solid agricultural section making Cloquet its primary market and trading center.

INCOME tax publicity finds defenders as well as objectors. Some newspapers published the income tax statements about various distinguished people and in their editorial column condemned the practice. The Indiana Republican Editorial Association condemned publication as a "vicious and un-American practice" and its members pledged themselves not to print the figures.

WOMEN'S fashions have killed many industries. Bobbed hair laid low the hair pin business. Fashion's edict reduced the output of silk petticoats and the sale of corsets, and stimulated the sale of silk stockings. It made the large hat taboo.

THE experiment of using St. Cloud State Teachers college cadets in out-of-town schools is being tried out with success. The plan as being worked out at Little Falls schools is to be extended soon.

ONE thousand persons daily are brought into St. Cloud on the Red Bus line and Jefferson Highway vehicles, said Attorney A. L. James, representing the Great Northern railway.

SEPT. 15 was supposed to witness the end of the straw hat and the advent of the fedora and derby.

free speech, nor do I believe in making this country the stamping grounds for every revolutionary agitator of other countries. This is no place for them."

Senator Borah intimated he would have more to say later concerning the exclusion.

"My policy is to let this radical into the country to talk all he wants to," Borah said. "If he commits a crime, arrest him, but after our laws are disobeyed is sufficient time to consider the gagging."

Senator William B. McKinley, republican, Illinois, president of the American group, was at his home in Champaign, Ill., and several other members likewise were absent.

Whether the barring of Saklatvala would be followed by embarrassing withdrawals of radicals and semi-radicals in other delegations from the sessions of the Union was a matter of speculation today. It was pointed out that the German delegation for instance contains two left wing socialists closely akin to the communists in opposition to capitalism. In addition the German delegation has seven other socialists, including Paul Loebe, president of the Reichstag.

The French delegation contains two socialists, one of whom is closely aligned to the left wing.

AMERICAN CONSULATE
NOTIFIES SAKLATVALA

London, Sept. 17—(UP)—The American consulate today notified Shapurji Saklatvala, communist member of parliament, of Secretary of State Kellogg's action in canceling his visa for America on the ground that America wanted no alien agitators on its soil.

With the gates of America barred to him, two other Britishers, Sir Robert Bird and Colonel Woodcock, who had withdrawn as delegates to the Interparliamentary Union sessions in Washington, announced they would go to Washington. They had declined to make the trip previously since they did not desire to sit in the Interparliamentary Union.

Saklatvala's only comment upon receiving the consulate notification was, "That's free America."

ASKS IF AMERICA
IF AFRAID OF TRUTH

London, Sept. 17—(UP)—"Is America afraid of the truth?" queried Shapurji Saklatvala, today after being informed his visa for the United States has been rescinded by Secretary of State Kellogg.

Saklatvala, who is a native of India, disclaimed any intention of spreading inimical propaganda, but announced that he would make no attempt to accompany the delegation going to Washington to attend the sessions of the Interparliamentary Union.

"Mark Twain"

In "Life on the Mississippi" is the story of a cocky young pilot whom the crew of the boat made the butt of a practical joke. While navigating one of the deepest places on the river they gave false soundings. He was finally frightened into ordering the engineer to back the ship. The leadman's cry: "Mark three, quarter-less-three, half twain, quarter twain, mark twain," suggested the pen name of the greatest American humorist.

Wide Fabrics Simplify Matters for Dressmaker

The introduction of materials that are 54 inches wide has done much to simplify matters for the home dressmaker who frequently found the problem of cutting and planning narrower fabrics to achieve the desired results almost beyond her ability.

Many of the frocks which come from the salons of certain of the best known Paris couturiers and American designers are adapted to the use of these wider materials. This makes the fashioning of summer frocks a pleasurable task and one not beyond the skill of an amateur who incurs her success by purchasing materials of excellent quality and providing herself with a really good pattern.

Record Earthquake

The Japanese earthquake of September 1, 1923, while not the severest in the world's history, exceeded any other in loss of life and property. The area affected was one degree square. Nearly 600,000 houses were totally destroyed and over 125,000 partially collapsed. In all 95,531 persons perished, 43,470 were reported missing and 103,733 wounded.

The approach from the sea was easy, if twelve miles of boulder and bog, of swamp and niggerhead, of root and stump, can be called easy under the best of circumstances; but easy it was as compared with what lay beyond and above it. Nevertheless, many Argonauts had never penetrated even thus far, and of those who had, a considerable proportion had turned back at the giant pit three miles above. One look at the towering barrier had been enough for them. The Chilkootee was more than a mountain, more than an obstacle of nature; it was a Presence, a tremendous and a terrifying Personality which overshadowed the minds of men and could neither be ignored at the time nor forgotten later. No wonder, then, that Sheep Camp, which was a part of the Chilkootee, represented a sort of acid test; no wonder that those who had moved their outfits thus far were of the breed the Northland loves—the stout of heart and of body.

Provisions were cached at frequent intervals all the way up from the sea, but in the open meadow beneath the thousand-foot wall an immense supply depot had sprung up. This pocket in the hills had become an open-air commissary, stocked with every sort of provision and gear. There were acres of sacks and bundles of boxes and bales, of lumber and hardware and perishable stuffs, and all day long men came and went in relays. One relay staggered up and out of the canon and dropped its packs, another picked up the bundles and ascended skyward. Pound by pound, ton by ton, this vast equipment of supplies went forward, but slowly, oh, so slowly! And at such effort! It was indeed fit work for ants, for it arrived nowhere and it never ended. Unlike these burden-bearers possessed but one idea—to fetch and to carry; they traveled back and forth along the trail until they wore it into bottomless bog, until every rock, every tree, every landmark along it became hatefully familiar and their eyes grew sick from seeing them.

The character of their labor and its monotony, even in this short time, had changed the men's characters—they had become pack-animals and they departed themselves as such. All labor-saving devices, all mechanical aids, all short cuts to comfort and to accomplishment, had been left behind; here was the wilderness, primitive, hostile, merciless. Every foot they moved, every ounce they carried, was at the cost of muscular exertion. It was only natural that they should take on the color of their surroundings. Money lost its value a mile above Sheep Camp and became a thing of weight, a thing to carry. The standard of value was the pound, and men thought in hundredweights or in tons. Yet there was no relief, no respite, for famine stalked in the Yukon and the Northwest Mounted were on guard, hence these unfortunate were chained to their grub-piles as galley-slaves are shackled to their benches.

Toe to heel, like peons rising from the bowels of a mine, they bent their backs and strained up that riven rock wall. Blasphemy and pain, high hopes and black despair, hearts overtaxed and eyes blind with fatigue, that was what the Chilkootee stood for. Permeating the entire atmosphere of the place, so that even the dullest could feel it, was a feverish haste, an apprehensive demand for speed, more speed, to keep ahead of the pressing thousands coming on behind.

Pierce Phillips breathed the last rise to the Summit, slipped his packstraps and flung himself full length upon the ground. His lungs felt as if they were bursting, the blood surged through his veins until he rocked, his body streamed with sweat, and his legs were as heavy as if molded from solid iron. He was pumped out, winded; nevertheless, he felt his strength return with magic swiftness, for he possessed that marvelous recuperative power of youth, and, like some fabled warrior, new strength flowed into him from the earth. Round about him other men were sprawled; some lay like the corpses, others were propped against their packs, a few stirred and sighed like the sorely wounded

after a charge. Those who had lain longest rose, took up their burdens, and went groaning over the sky-line and out of sight. Every moment new faces, purple with effort or white with exhaustion, rose out of the depths—all were bitten deep with lines of physical suffering. On buckled knees their owners lurched forward to find resting-places; in their eyes burned a sullen rage, in their mouths were foul curses at this Devil's Stairway. There were strip-lings and graybeards in the crowd, strong men and weak men, but here at the Summit all were alike in one particular—they lacked breath for anything except oaths.

Here, too, as in the valley beneath, was another great depot of provision piles. Near where Phillips had thrown himself down there was one man whose bearing was in marked contrast to that of the others. He sat astride a bulging canvas bag in a leather harness, and in spite of the fact that the mark of a tump-line showed beneath his cap he betrayed no signs of fatigue. He was not at all exhausted, and from the interest he displayed it seemed that he had chosen this spot as a vantage-point from which to study the upcoming file rather than as a place in which to rest. This he did with a quick, appreciative eye and with a genial smile. In face, in dress, in manner, he was different. For one thing, he was of foreign birth, and yet he appeared to be more a piece of the country than any man Pierce had seen. His clothes were of a pattern common among the native packers, but he wore them with a free, unconscious grace all his own. From the peak of his Canadian toque there depended a tassel which bobbed when he talked; his boots were of Indian make, and they were soft and light and waterproof; a sash of several colors was knotted about his waist. But it was not alone his dress which challenged the eye—there was something in this fellow's easy, open bearing which arrested attention. His dark skin had been deepened by windburn, his well-set, well-shaped head bore a countenance both eager and intelligent, a countenance that fairly glowed with confidence and good humor.

Oddly enough, he sang as he sat upon his pack. High up on his hillside, amid blasphemous complaints, he hummed a gay little song:

"Chante, rossignol, chante!"

Tu qui a le coeur gai!

Mai j'ai-t-a pleurer."

ran his chanson.

Phillips had seen the fellow several times, and the circumstances of their first encounter had been sufficiently unusual to impress themselves upon his mind. Pierce had been resting here, at this very spot, when the Canuck had come up into sight, bearing a hundred-pound pack without apparent effort. Two flour-sacks upon a man's back was a rare sight on the roof of the Chilkootee. There were not many who could master that slope with more than one, but this fellow had borne his burden without apparent effort; and what was even more remarkable, what had caused Pierce Phillips to open his eyes in genuine astonishment, was the fact that the man climbed with a pipe in his teeth and smoked it with relish. On that occasion the Frenchman had not stopped at the crest to breathe, but had merely paused long enough to admire the scene spread beneath him; then he had swung onward. Of all the sights young Phillips had beheld in this new land, the vision of that huge, unhurried Canadian, smoking, had impressed him deepest. It had awakened his keen envy, too, for Pierce was beginning to glory in his own strength. A few days later they had rested near each other on the Long Lake portage. That is, Phillips had rested; the Canadian, it seemed, had a habit of pausing when and where the fancy struck him.

His reason for stopping had been the antics of a peculiarly fearless and impertinent "camp-robber." With a crust of bread he had tolled the bird almost within his reach and was accepting its scolding with intense amusement. Having both teased and made friends with the creature, he finally gave it the crust and resumed his journey.

From what Phillips had seen of this French Canadian it was plain that he, too, was an "old-timer," one of that Jovian band of supermen who had dared the dark interior and robbed the bars of Forty Mile in the hard days before the El Dorado discovery. Since this was their first opportunity of exchanging speech, Phillips ventured to address the man.

"I thought I had a load this morning, but I'd hate to swap packs with you," he said.

The Frenchman flashed him a smile which exposed a row of teeth snow-white against his tan. "Ho! You're stronger as me. I see you plenty tams biffore."

Does Your husband expect this too?

The average husband wants his wife to keep her prettiness and charm. And, at the same time, he wants her to look out for his comfort and cook three meals every day. No small order, but it can be filled if wives put their housekeeping on a scientific basis.

The logical place to begin labor saving is in the kitchen—at the stove. Perfection Stoves are designed for women's convenience. They burn kerosene, the safe, household fuel, so there is no laborious hauling of coal and ashes.

Their roomy cooking surface is at the most convenient height, 32 inches from the floor, just like a kitchen table.

Every drop of oil is completely burned before the heat reaches the utensils, so there is no soot to blacken kettle bottoms. You are spared strenuous scouring.

These are just a few of Perfection's convenience features. Any dealer will demonstrate many more. Get a Perfection. It can help you live up to your husband's expectations.

The approach from the sea was easy, if twelve miles of boulder and bog, of swamp and niggerhead, of root and stump, can be called easy under the best of circumstances; but easy it was as compared with what lay beyond and above it. Nevertheless, many Argonauts had never penetrated even thus far, and of those who had, a considerable proportion had turned back at the giant pit three miles above. One look at the towering barrier had been enough for them. The Chilkootee was more than a mountain, more than an obstacle of nature; it was a Presence, a tremendous and a terrifying Personality which overshadowed the minds of men and could neither be ignored at the time nor forgotten later. No wonder, then, that Sheep Camp, which was a part of the Chilkootee, represented a sort of acid test; no wonder that those who had moved their outfits thus far were of the breed the Northland loves—the stout of heart and of body.

Provisions were cached at frequent intervals all the way up from the sea, but in the open meadow beneath the thousand-foot wall an immense supply depot had sprung up. This pocket in the hills had become an open-air commissary, stocked with every sort of provision and gear. There were acres of sacks and bundles of boxes and bales, of lumber and hardware and perishable stuffs, and all day long men came and went in relays. One relay staggered up and out of the canon and dropped its packs, another picked up the bundles and ascended skyward. Pound by pound, ton by ton, this vast equipment of supplies went forward, but slowly, oh, so slowly! And at such effort! It was indeed fit work for ants, for it arrived nowhere, and it never ended. Unlike these burden-bearers possessed but one idea—to fetch and to carry; they traveled back and forth along the trail until they wore it into bottomless bog, until every rock, every tree, every landmark along it became hatefully familiar and their eyes grew sick from seeing them.

The character of their labor and its monotony, even in this short time, had changed the men's characters—they had become pack-animals and they dejected themselves as such. All labor-saving devices, all mechanical aids, all short cuts to comfort and to accomplishment, had been left behind; here was the wilderness, primitive, hostile, merciless. Every foot they moved, every ounce they carried, was at the cost of muscular exertion. It was only natural that they should take on the color of their surroundings.

Money lost its value a mile above Sheep Camp and became a thing of weight, a thing to carry. The standard of value was the pound, and men thought in hundredweights or in tons. Yet there was no relief, no respite, for famine stalked in the Yukon and the Northwest Mounted were on guard, hence these unfortunate were chained to their grubstake as galley-slaves are shackled to their benches.

Too to heel, like peons rising from the bowels of a mine, they bent their backs and strained up that riven rock wall. Blasphemy and pain, high hopes and black despair, hearts overtaxed and eyes blind with fatigue, that was what the Chilkootee stood for. Permeating the entire atmosphere of the place, so that even the dullest could feel it, was a feverish haste, an apprehensive demand for speed, more speed, to keep ahead of the pressing thousands coming on behind.

Pierce Phillips breathed the last rise to the Summit, slipped his packstraps and flung himself full length upon the ground. His lungs felt as if they were bursting, the blood surged through his veins until he rocked, his body streamed with sweat, and his legs were as heavy as if molded from solid iron. He was pumped out, winded; nevertheless, he felt his strength return with magic swiftness, for he possessed that marvelous recuperative power of youth, and, like some fabled warrior, new strength flowed into him from the earth. Round about him other men were sprawled; some lay like the corpses, others were propped against their packs, a few stirred and sighed like the sorely wounded

after a charge. Those who had lain longest rose, took up their burdens, and went groaning over the sky-line and out of sight. Every moment new faces, purple with effort or white with exhaustion, rose out of the depths—all were bitten deep with lines of physical suffering. On tracked knees the owners lurched forward to find resting-places; in their eyes burned a sullen rage, in their mouths were foul curses at this Devil's Stairway. There were strappings and graybeards in the crowd, strong men and weak men, but here at the Summit all were alike in one particular—they lacked breath for anything except oaths.

Here, too, as in the valley beneath, was another great depot of provision piles. Near where Phillips had thrown himself down there was one man whose bearing was in marked contrast to that of the others. He sat astride a bulging canvas bag in a leather harness, and in spite of the fact that the mark of a tumble-line showed beneath his cap he betrayed no signs of fatigue. He was not at all exhausted, and from the interest he displayed it seemed that he had chosen this spot as a vantage-point from which to study the upcoming file rather than as a place in which to rest. This he did with a quick, appreciative eye and with a genial smile. In face, in dress, in manner, he was different. For one thing, he was of foreign birth, and yet he appeared to be more a piece of the country than any man Pierce had seen. His clothes were of a pattern common among the native packers, but he wore them with a free, unconscious grace all his own. From the peak of his Canadian toque there depended a tassel which bobbed when he talked; his boots were of Indian make, and they were soft and light and waterproof; a sash of several colors was knotted about his waist. But it was not alone his dress which challenged the eye—there was something in this fellow's easy, open bearing which arrested attention. His dark skin had been deepened by windburn, his well-set, well-shaped head bore a countenance both eager and intelligent, a countenance that fairly glowed with confidence and good humor. Oddly enough, he sang as he sat upon his pack. High up on this hillside, amid blasphemous complaints, he hummed a gay little song:

"Chante, rossignol, chante!"

"Toi qui a le coeur gai!"

"Tu as le coeur a rire"

"Mai j't'ai-ta pleurer."

Phillips had seen the fellow several times, and the circumstances of their first encounter had been sufficiently unusual to impress themselves upon his mind. Pierce had been resting here, at this very spot, when the Canuck had come up into sight, bearing a hundred-pound pack without apparent effort. Two flour-sacks upon a man's back was a rare sight on the roof of the Chilkootee. There were not many who could master that slope with more than one, but this fellow had borne his burden without apparent effort; and what was even more remarkable, what had caused Pierce Phillips to open his eyes in genuine astonishment, was the fact that the man climbed with a pipe in his teeth and smoked it with relish. On that occasion the Frenchman had not stopped at the crest to breathe, but had merely paused long enough to admire the scene spread beneath him; then he had swung onward. Of all the sights young Phillips had beheld in this new land, the vision of that huge, unhurried Canadian, smoking, had impressed him deepest. It had awakened his keen envy, too, for Pierce was beginning to glory in his own strength. A few days later they had rested near each other on the Long Lake portage. That is, Phillips had rested; the Canadian, it seemed, had a habit of pausing when and where the fancy struck him, and his reason for stopping had been the antics of a peculiarly fearless and impertinent "camp-robber." With a crust of bread he had tolled the bird almost within his reach and was accepting its scolding with intense amusement. Having both teased and made friends with the creature, he finally gave it the crust and resumed his journey.

ORGANIZE CITIZENS FOR BROWNS GAME

ST. LOUIS BROWNS TO PLAY BRAINERD HERE ON OCT. 14

GENERAL COMMITTEE TO HAVE CHARGE OF ALL ARRANGE-MENTS

S. R. ADAIR PRESIDENT, A. L.
HOFFMAN SECRETARY, B. L.
LAGERQUIST TREASURER

A meeting of the citizens of Brainerd, who have been negotiating since last July with the St. Louis Browns baseball club for a game with a BRAINERD club was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and report was made that the deal was closed and that the St. Louis Browns would play the game on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 14, 1925, game to be called at 2:30 p. m.

It was thought best to organize a committee under the name of "General committee on St. Louis Browns baseball game."

A general committee to make all arrangements and have charge of the game was appointed as follows: S. R.
Adair, J. P. Anderson, Dr. A. K.
Cohen, John A. Hoffbauer, Ed. Whiting, E. Norman, Andrew Anderson,
Alfred Dillan, Al. Ebert, Clyde C.
Parker, A. P. Drogseth, B. C. Mc-Namara, Joe Cibuzar, Ed. Orth, F. H.
Gruenhagen and A. L. Hoffman. This committee is requested to meet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, September 18th at 7:30 o'clock as arrangements must be made at once.

The following officers of committee were appointed: S. R. Adair, president; A. L. Hoffman, secretary; B.
L. Lagerquist, treasurer; John A.
Hoffbauer, advertising manager; Ed.
Whiting, manager of the BRAINERD ball team.

The following committee was appointed to solicit support of B. P. O.
E. for the Athletic park: F. H.
Gruenhagen, Clyde E. Parker, A. P.
Drogseth, J. P. Anderson and A. L.
Hoffman.

R. R. Gould was requested to make report at meeting of September 18th on rain insurance.

The secretary was instructed to request the directors of the Business Men's association to ask all business houses and offices to close for certain hours during the game. The directors have since ordered closing from 2 to 5 p. m.

The secretary was instructed to order 3,000 tickets.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's Hero — Irish Meusel, Giant outfielder, doubled in the third inning and drove in the two runs that beat the Reds 2 to 1 and increased the Giants' hold on second place to 5½ games.

The Pirates gained half a game on the Giants and increased their lead to 6½ games when they grabbed a double-header from the Robins, 5-3 and 6-2.

Paschal's triple with the bases filled helped the Yankees beat the Indians, 8 to 0, in the first game and Herb Pennock's tight pitching stopped the Cleveland club 4 and 3 in the second game.

Rogers Hornsby's 37th homer with one on gave the Cardinals a 5 to 3 victory over the Phillies and moved them into fourth place.

Alexander pitched the Cubs to a 3 to 0 victory in the first game but the Braves won the second game 8 to 6.

Ed Rommel won his 21st game by beating the White Sox, 4 to 1 in the first game but the Athletics dropped the second, 6 to 2.

After the Colonels had led through most of the game, the Senators rallied in the ninth inning, scored three runs and won 6 to 5. The win gave the Senators four victories out of five games.

Rain again interfered with the game between Indianapolis and Toledo.
No other games were scheduled.

DAVIS GIVES IDEAS ON LABOR

SECRETARY OF LABOR FINDS MANY EDUCATED PEOPLE
IN RANKS OF LABOR

Kansas City, Sept. 17.—The idea that one must be uneducated to be a laborer is false and the belief that an educated man won't work as a laborer, is likewise untrue, declared
Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in an address before the annual conference of railroad car men.

"I find many educated men and women in the folds of labor," said Davis.

The secretary vigorously attacked communism in labor organizations and warned that advocates of bloodshed and violence must be ousted from the ranks of labor.

"I am for the great labor leaders of the country who preach the doctrines of reason," Davis said.

FRANCE'S HOPE, LA COSTE, TO FACE RICHARDS

ANOTHER INTERESTING MATCH IS BETWEEN TILDEN AND WALLACE JOHNSON

JOHNSON PROVED HIMSELF MAR-VEL OF TENNIS COURT YESTERDAY

West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Playing serious and aggressive tennis for the first time in the national championship tournament William T. Tilden, the defending champion, became a semi-finalist today when he defeated Wallace Johnson, the veteran Philadelphia star, at 6-4, 6-6 and 6-4.

Tilden looked the champion that he is in every stroke when he was trying but he could not get away from his habitual trilling at times.

In the second set Tilden played spectacular tennis and won at love. He smashed from the base line and charged to the net and had Johnson baffled completely.

R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia, entered the semi-finals in the upper half when he defeated Howard Kinsey, San Francisco, at 7-5, 6-4 and 6-3.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 17.—With the field thinned down to eight international stars, the elimination of prominent players in the national singles championship will continue today at the West Side Tennis club in the round before the semi-finals.

Two foreign players and six American stars survived the third round yesterday, which resulted in a number of prominent casualties including Jean Borotra, the hero of the French Davis cup team; James O. Anderson, captain of the Australian team and the two Japanese players, Onda and Harada.

The survivors, four of whom will be stricken off the list today, are William T. Tilden, the defending champion; Billy Johnston, Vinnie Richards, Dick Williams, Howard Kinsey, Wallace Johnson, Manuel Alonzo and Rene La Coste.

The feature battle on today's program will be staged between France's hope for the future, the 20 year old Wimbledon champion, La Coste, and Vinnie Richards, a recent graduate from the boy wonder class.

Another interesting match will be staged in the lower half between Tilden and Wallace Johnson, who were finalists in the championship three years ago. Johnson, in chop-stroking Jim Anderson in his finish yesterday, proved himself one of the marvels of the court.

Dick Williams, the veteran Davis cup star and former national champion, played Howard Kinsey today and if Williams plays like he did against Borotra, Kinsey cannot hope to beat him.

Billy Johnston, the crowd's favorite, meets Manuel Alonzo, the Spanish Davis cup star, and he is not expected to have much difficulty.

BARNES INCREASES HIS LEAD OVER MACFARLANE TODAY

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—
James Barnes, British open golf champion, increased his lead over Willie MacFarlane, American open champion, to 12 holes at the end of the first 18 holes in their final round for the unofficial world golf championship at the Columbia Country club today.

Barnes started today's round of 36 holes nine up on the American champion and increased the advantage gradually as MacFarlane putted poorly.

2 PLAYERS EJECTED FROM THE GAME AT COLUMBUS TODAY

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 17.—(UP)— Pitcher Steland of the Columbus Senators and Second Baseman Hillis of the Toledo Mudhens were ejected from the first game of today's double-header for fighting.

Steland threw a wild pitch that narrowly missed Hillis' head. The Toledo infielder tossed his bat at the pitcher, who knocked Hillis down. The men were separated by players of both teams.

ALONG THE SIDE LINES

Evanston, Ill.—Although Northwestern University's football team is hailed as the best in years, judged by its appearance in practice, it lacks searsoned reserves, a point that is worrying Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite.

Champaign, Ill.—Harold "Red" Grange may handle Illinois University's punting this fall, because Earl Britton has been shifted from the backfield into the line.

Iowa City.—Fresh blood for both line and backfield appeared in Iowa's practice. Coberts and Cray, linemen, and Lambert, Navy reserve last year,
are the finds.

South Bend, Ind.—After watching the crew of his material through two days of practice, Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame was pessimistic. "Prospects are worse than in any year I have been here," he said.

Madison, Wis.—Coach George Little has given his 75 candidates over into the hands of his assistants for special instruction. Today tentative eleven were organized for signal drill.

Chicago.—Coach A. A. Staggs is driving the University of Chicago aspirants in daily scrimmage. Plays are from open formations. Anderson, star freshman half, has joined the squad.

Bloomington, Ind.—Indiana University's first scrimmage will be held Saturday. An expected 75 candidates dwindled to 50.

Ann Arbor.—Candidates for the Michigan University eleven were split into groups for special coaching in the first outdoor drill.

La Fayette, Ind.—Everything on the list is being given Purdue University candidates. A light and fast backfield is probable. Line prospects are not plentiful.

Columbus, O.—Optimism radiates from Dr. John W. Wilce, Ohio State coach. He regards the 100 candidates as the best material he has ever had.

Minneapolis.—John Murrell, fullback for Cedar Rapids, Ia., high school in 1923, is getting lots of attention from Coach Clarence W. Spears. His triple threat possibilities are cheering Minnesota followers.

Cambridge, Mass.—For the first time within memory, a Harvard varsity team was picked on the second day of practice and put through some formation work by Coach Bob Fisher.
The squad has been reduced to three complete teams.

New Haven, Conn.—Benton and Richards, two letter men, are still missing from the Yale football squad, but they are expected to report this week. Jones and Lindley are laid up with bad colds. Tad Jones, head coach, has started dummy scrimmage, the first time in years it has been tried so early.

Princeton, N. J.—Although they have been at work only two days the 60 candidates for the Princeton varsity team are so advanced in condition and fundamentals that Coach Bob Roper is giving them signal drill. Murray Gibson, one of the backfield regulars, has a sore shoulder and may not be able to play this season.

FOURNIER MAY BE BACK NEXT YEAR

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Jack Fournier, veteran Brooklyn first baseman, who announced that he would retire at the end of the season, because of abusive treatment received from the Brooklyn fans, may be back with the team next year. His contract has another year to run and his teammates have asked him not to throw down the club.

Ho, Hum!

"Gosh! I heard a tiresome talk last night," remarked the first radio nut.
"Why didn't you tune out and try for some other station?" asked the second ditto.

"No chance. Station WIFE was doing the broadcasting."

Name Not a Guarantee

Do not be misled by the name on a violin, as it frequently happens that it is not the maker's name. If it is a well-known violin maker's name, it implies that the instrument is a model of his, made in the same style, but the name is not a guarantee that the fiddle is one of his own make.

PITTSBURGH CREW INCREASES LEAD TO 6½ GAMES

PIRATES NEED 8 MORE GAMES TO CINCH THE PEN.

WASHINGTON SENATORS HOLD 8
GAME LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Gaining a half game in the National league pennant race by winning two games from the Robins while the Giants were taking a single from the Reds, the Pittsburgh Pirates increased their lead to 6½ games yesterday.

The Pirates now need eight more victories in their 13 remaining games to cinch the pennant if the Giants should win all their 14 remaining games.

The Washington Senators are holding an eight game lead in the American league pennant race and they can cinch the pennant by winning 10 out of their 18 remaining games even if the Athletics should cop 16 in a row.

FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

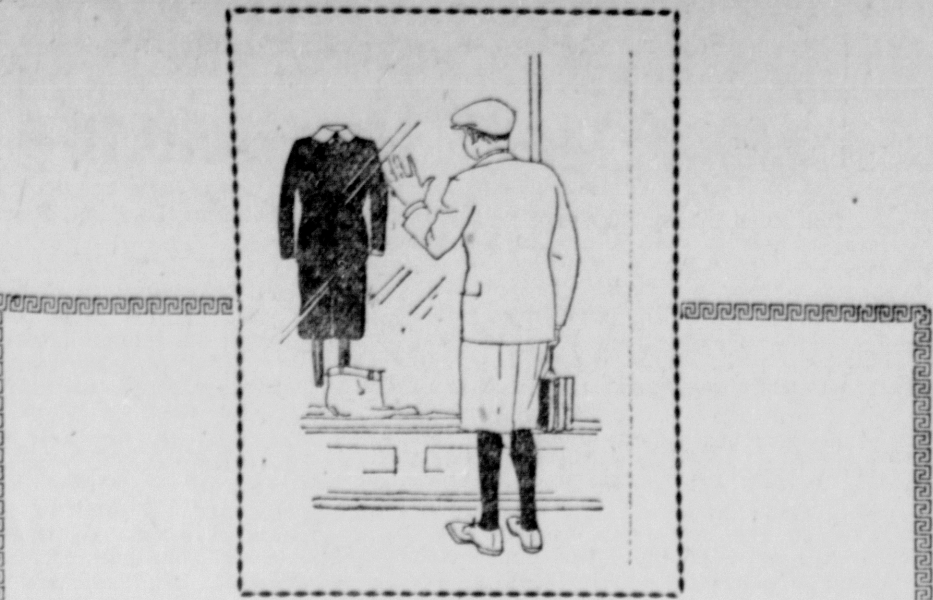

Hermann to Meet Miller
Aurora, Ill.—Babe Hermann, California, and Ray Miller, Chicago, meet here tonight in a 10-round bout.

Fight 10 Terrific Rounds
Los Angeles.—Ace Hudkins of Omaha and Mushy Callihan, Los Angeles newsboy, fought 10 terrific rounds to a draw here. The crowd gave Hud-kins a great ovation and many believed he won the fight.

Grogan Wins From O'Neill
Cascade, Ia.—Tommy Grogan, Omaha featherweight, knocked out Jimmy O'Neill, of Denver, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout here last night.

Echoes of a Bust
New York.—Pending further investigation into the recent Kaplan-Harmon welterweight bust, the New York Boxing commission has placed on the inactive list Tommy Sheridan, the referee, and Gene Sampson, the judge, who voted that the contest was a draw. George Kelly, the other judge, voted for Harmon.

Cleveland.—In three bouts scheduled for 10 rounds here last night, Benny Gershe, Cleveland featherweight, tripped Benny Gould of New York in the second; Johnny Datto, wild swinging Filipino, flattened Jackie Nichols of Detroit in the first, and Tommy Freeman, Arkansas newsboy, won a technical knockout over Harry Shaw, Harlem negro, in the third.

ORGANIZE CITIZENS FOR BROWNS GAME

ST. LOUIS BROWNS TO PLAY BRAINERD HERE ON OCT. 14

GENERAL COMMITTEE TO HAVE CHARGE OF ALL ARRANGE- MENTS

S. R. ADAIR PRESIDENT, A. L. HOFFMAN SECRETARY, B. L. LAGERQUIST TREASURER

A meeting of the citizens of Brainerd, who have been negotiating since last July with the St. Louis Browns baseball club for a game with a Brainerd club was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and report was made that the deal was closed and that the St. Louis Browns would play the game on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 14, 1925, game to be called at 2:30 p. m.

It was thought best to organize a committee under the name of "General committee on St. Louis Browns baseball game."

A general committee to make all arrangements and have charge of the game was appointed as follows: S. R. Adair, J. P. Anderson, Dr. A. K. Cohen, John A. Hoffbauer, Ed. Whiting, E. Norman, Andrew Anderson, Alfred Dillan, Al. Ebert, Clyde C. Parker, A. P. Drogseth, B. C. McNamara, Joe Cibuzar, Ed. Orth, F. H. Gruenhagen and A. L. Hoffman. This committee is requested to meet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, September 18th at 7:30 o'clock as arrangements must be made at once.

The following officers of committee were appointed: S. R. Adair, president; A. L. Hoffman, secretary; B. L. Lagerquist, treasurer; John A. Hoffbauer, advertising manager; Ed. Whiting, manager of the Brainerd ball team.

The following committee was appointed to solicit support of B. P. O. E. for the Athletic park: F. H. Gruenhagen, Clyde E. Parker, A. P. Drogseth, J. P. Anderson and A. L. Hoffman.

R. R. Gould was requested to make report at meeting of September 18th on rain insurance.

The secretary was instructed to request the directors of the Business Men's association to ask all business houses and offices to close for certain hours during the game. The directors have since ordered closing from 2 to 5 p. m.

The secretary was instructed to order 3,000 tickets.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's Hero — Irish Meusel, Giant outfielder, doubled in the third inning and drove in the two runs that beat the Reds 2 to 1 and increased the Giants' hold on second place to 5½ games.

The Pirates gained half a game on the Giants and increased their lead to 6½ games when they grabbed a double-header from the Robins, 5-3 and 6-2.

Paschal's triple with the bases filled helped the Yankees beat the Indians, 8 to 0, in the first game and Herb Pennock's tight pitching stopped the Cleveland club 4 and 3 in the second game.

Rogers Hornsby's 37th homer with one on gave the Cardinals a 5 to 3 victory over the Phillies and moved them into fourth place.

Alexander pitched the Cubs to a 3 to 0 victory in the first game but the Braves won the second game 8 to 6.

Ed Rommel won his 21st game by beating the White Sox, 4 to 1 in the first game but the Athletics dropped the second, 6 to 2.

After the Colonels had led through most of the game, the Senators rallied in the ninth inning, scored three runs and won 6 to 5. The win gave the Senators four victories out of five games.

Rain again interfered with the game between Indianapolis and Toledo. No other games were scheduled.

DAVIS GIVES IDEAS ON LABOR

SECRETARY OF LABOR FINDS MANY EDUCATED PEOPLE IN RANKS OF LABOR

Kansas City, Sept. 17.—The idea that one must be uneducated to be a laborer is false and the belief that an educated man won't work as a laborer, is likewise untrue, declared Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in an address before the annual conference of railroad car men.

"I find many educated men and women in the folds of labor," said Davis.

The secretary vigorously attacked communism in labor organizations and warned that advocates of bloodshed and violence must be ousted from the ranks of labor.

"I am for the great labor leaders of the country who preach the doctrines of reason," Davis said.

FRANCE'S HOPE, LA COSTE, TO FACE RICHARDS

ANOTHER INTERESTING MATCH IS BETWEEN TILDEN AND WALLACE JOHNSON

JOHNSON PROVED HIMSELF MAR- VEL OF TENNIS COURT YESTERDAY

West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Playing serious and aggressive tennis for the first time in the national championship tournament William T. Tilden, the defending champion, became a semi-finalist today when he defeated Wallace Johnson, the veteran Philadelphia star, at 6-4, 6-0 and 6-4.

Tilden looked the champion that he is in every stroke when he was trying but he could not get away from his habitual trilling at times. In the second set Tilden played spectacular tennis and won at love. He smashed from the base line and charged to the net and had Johnson baffled completely.

R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia, entered the semi-finals in the upper half when he defeated Howard Kinsey, San Francisco, at 7-5, 6-4 and 6-3.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 17.—With the field thinned down to eight international stars, the elimination of prominent players in the national singles championship will continue today at the West Side Tennis club in the round before the semi-finals.

Two foreign players and six American stars survived the third round yesterday, which resulted in a number of prominent casualties including Jean Borotra, the hero of the French Davis cup team; James O. Anderson, captain of the Australian team and the two Japanese players, Onda and Harada.

The survivors, four of whom will be stricken off the list today, are William T. Tilden, the defending champion; Billy Johnston, Vinnie Richards, Dick Williams, Howard Kinsey, Wallace Johnson, Manuel Alonzo and Rene La Coste.

The feature battle on today's program will be staged between France's hope for the future, the 20 year old Wimbledon champion, La Coste, and Vinnie Richards, a recent graduate from the boy wonder class.

Another interesting match will be staged in the lower half between Tilden and Wallace Johnson, who were finalists in the championship three years ago. Johnson, in chop-stroking Jim Anderson in his finish yesterday, proved himself one of the marvels of the court.

Dick Williams, the veteran Davis cup star and former national champion, played Howard Kinsey today and if Williams plays like he did against Borotra, Kinsey cannot hope to beat him.

Billy Johnston, the crowd's favorite, meets Manuel Alonzo, the Spanish Davis cup star, and he is not expected to have much difficulty.

BARNES INCREASES HIS LEAD OVER MACFARLANE TODAY

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—James Barnes, British open golf champion, increased his lead over Willie Macfarlane, American open champion, to 12 holes at the end of the first 18 holes in their final round for the unofficial world golf championship at the Columbia Country club today.

Barnes started today's round of 36 holes nine up on the American champion and increased the advantage gradually as Macfarlane putted poorly.

2 PLAYERS EJECTED FROM THE GAME AT COLUMBUS TODAY

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Pitcher Stueland of the Columbus Senators and Second Baseman Hillis of the Toledo Mudhens were ejected from the first game of today's double-header for fighting.

Stueland threw a wild pitch that narrowly missed Hillis' head. The Toledo infielder tossed his bat at the pitcher, who knocked Hillis down. The men were separated by players of both teams.

ALONG THE SIDE LINES

Evanston, Ill.—Although Northwestern University's football team is hailed as the best in years, judged by its appearance in practice, it lacks seasoned reserves, a point that is worrying Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite.

Champaign, Ill.—Harold "Red" Grange may handle Illinois University's punting this fall, because Earl Britton has been shifted from the backfield into the line.

Iowa City.—Fresh blood for both line and backfield appeared in Iowa's practice. Coberts and Crary, linemen, and Lambert, Navy reserve last year, are the finds.

South Bend, Ind.—After watching the crew of his material through two days of practice, Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame was pessimistic. "Prospects are worse than in any year I have been here," he said.

Madison, Wis.—Coach George Little has given his 75 candidates over into the hands of his assistants for special instruction. Today tentative elevens were organized for signal drill.

Chicago.—Coach A. A. Staggs is driving the University of Chicago aspirants in daily scrimmage. Plays are from open formations. Anderson, star freshman half, has joined the squad.

Bloomington, Ind.—Indiana University's first scrimmage will be held Saturday. An expected 75 candidates dwindled to 50.

Ann Arbor.—Candidates for the Michigan University eleven were split into groups for special coaching in the first outdoor drill.

La Fayette, Ind.—Everything on the list is being given Purdue University candidates. A light and fast backfield is probable. Line prospects are not plentiful.

Columbus, O.—Optimism radiates from Dr. John W. Wilce, Ohio State coach. He regards the 100 candidates as the best material he has ever had.

Minneapolis.—John Murrell, fullback for Cedar Rapids, Ia., high school in 1923, is getting lots of attention from Coach Clarence W. Spears. His triple threat possibilities are cheering Minnesota followers.

Cambridge, Mass.—For the first time within memory, a Harvard varsity team was picked on the second day of practice and put through some formation work by Coach Bob Fisher. The squad has been reduced to three complete teams.

New Haven, Conn.—Benton and Richards, two letter men, are still missing from the Yale football squad, but they are expected to report this week. Jones and Lindley are laid up with bad colds. Tad Jones, head coach, has started dummy scrimmage, the first time in years it has been tried so early.

Princeton, N. J.—Although they have been at work only two days the 60 candidates for the Princeton varsity team are so advanced in condition and fundamentals that Coach Bob Roper is giving them signal drill. Murray Gibson, one of the backfield regulars, has a sore shoulder and may not be able to play this season.

FOURNIER MAY BE BACK NEXT YEAR

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Jack Fournier, veteran Brooklyn first baseman, who announced that he would retire at the end of the season, because of abusive treatment received from the Brooklyn fans, may be back with the team next year. His contract has another year to run and his teammates have asked him not to throw down the club.

Ho, Hum!
"Gosh! I heard a tiresome talk last night," remarked the first radio nut. "Why didn't you tune out and try for some other station?" asked the second ditto.
"No chance. Station WIFE was doing the broadcasting."

Name Not a Guarantee
Do not be misled by the name on a violin, as it frequently happens that it is not the maker's name. If it is a well-known violin maker's name, it implies that the instrument is a model of his, made in the same style, but the name is not a guarantee that the fiddle is one of his own make.

PITTSBURGH CREW INCREASES LEAD TO 6½ GAMES

PIRATES NEED 8 MORE GAMES TO CINCH THE PEN- NANT

WASHINGTON SENATORS HOLD 8 GAME LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Gaining a half game in the National league pennant race by winning two games from the Robins while the Giants were taking a single from the Reds, the Pittsburgh Pirates increased their lead to 6½ games yesterday.

The Pirates now need eight more victories in their 13 remaining games to cinch the pennant if the Giants should win all their 14 remaining games.

The Washington Senators are holding an eight game lead in the American league pennant race and they can cinch the pennant by winning 10 out of their 18 remaining games even if the Athletics should cop 16 in a row.

PARENTS AIDING IN HEALTH INSTRUCTION

Miss Thora Ingebritson Gives 10 Ways in Which Parents Can Cooperate

IMPROVE COMMUNITY HEALTH

Breathe Plenty of Fresh Air, Drink Pure Water, Get Enough Sleep, Etc.

Miss Thora Ingebritson, county nurse, gives 10 ways in which parents can co-operate with the schools in health instruction, and thereby greatly assist the school work of their children and the good health of the community. These 10 health rules were prepared by F. B. Anderson, superintendent of schools of Ada, Minnesota, for the Northwestern Health Journal. They are given herewith:

1. Breathe plenty of fresh air.
2. Drink pure water.
3. Use plenty of pasteurized milk.
4. Get enough sleep.
5. Keep clean.
6. Eat right kind of food and chew it well.
7. Breathe correctly and exercise in the open air.
8. Take care of the teeth.
9. Do not use tobacco.
10. Admit sunshine into your house and your life.

In discussing these points, Miss Ingebritson states that every child should be taught to breathe through the nose. Mouth breathing is usually a symptom of adenoids or other nasal obstructions.

At least 8 hours of sleep for growing children is positively essential; 9 or even 10 hours are better. This sleep should be taken in well ventilated, airy quarters.

Avoid badly lighted, dusty, dirty, overheated, crowded or damp rooms, these are the places where whooping cough, scarlet fever, measles, colds, pneumonia, diphtheria, scarlet fever and tuberculosis are contracted.

Dr. Lowrey, of the child guidance clinic of the University of Minnesota, has traced much of the irritability and restlessness of school children to improper diet, and for this reason the county nurse will be glad to submit proposed diets for school children to mothers of the county who desire them. Fresh fruits, when obtainable, are strongly advised as a part of every person's diet, and when they cannot be secured they should be substituted with dried fruits that are rich in iron and are a tonic for the blood.

Miss Ingebritson believes that if parents will follow Prof. Anderson's 10 rules for health, their children will be more regular in attendance at school, their efficiency will be increased, and they will receive much better marks in their studies. In addition, there will be little danger of contracting dreaded diseases which may impair the child's health for a number of years, and might result in death.

Novick-Siegel

The wedding of Miss Helen Katherine Siegel, and Felix P. Novick took place on Wednesday morning at 8:20 o'clock at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father James Hogan, pastor of the church, officiating.

The altar steps were adorned with large ferns and red and white lilies. The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, and was met there by the groom and his attendant. The wedding march by Lohengrin was played by Miss Mae Tierney.

Miss Mary Siegel, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Joseph Novick, the groom's brother, acted as best man.

The bride was attired in a tan suit with hat to match, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid wore a dress of reindeer twill and carried an arm bouquet of pink tea roses. Her hat was of reindeer velvet and ribbon.

Following the ceremony a four-course breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, the decorations being in pink and white. Fifty-two guests were present.

Both contracting parties are well known in Brainerd. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Siegel, 207 Third avenue, Northeast. She attended the parochial school in the city and the Villa at Duluth. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novick, 501 B street, Northeast, and is employed in the car department of the local Northern Pacific shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Novick will spend their honeymoon at St. Francis For. Canada, and will be at home about September 26th at 207 Third Avenue.

2 BRAINERD MEN ON PUBLICATION

R. E. Quinn Editor of "Candy And Soda Profits" Trade Journal

F. M. McCABE ADVERTISING MGR.

Both Men. Wounded in War, Received Thorough Veterans Training

Ralph E. Quinn and F. M. McCabe, two former Brainerd men, who left to enlist in the army when the United States went into the World war, are now associated together in the field of journalism. Mr. Quinn as editor and Mr. McCabe as advertising manager of "Candy and Soda Profits" a trade journal issued monthly in the twin cities.

Both men were wounded in the war, and received veterans training, each specializing in the work that they are now doing. Mr. Quinn was train dispatcher on the Minnesota and International railway while he lived in Brainerd.

Of the proportions which the confectionery and ice cream industry has attained in Minnesota, "Candy and Soda Profits" gives some figures which are of general interest, and which are taken from the federal census bureau. They are as follows:

"In 1921, for this industry, there were 87 establishments, employing 1,312 wage earners, at total wages of $1,212,461, and the total value of the products was $7,927,323.

"In 1923, there were 84 establishments, employing 1,452 wage earners, at total wages of $1,328,358, and the total value of the products was $9,736,628. These are the most recent figures available."

"LOST WORLD" IS NOW MOVIE

Famous Author's Master Novel of Prehistoric Monsters Opens at New Park Friday

Probably the most unusual love drama ever put on the screen is "The Lost World," which opens at the New Park theatre Friday for three days.

The picture is an adaptation of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel of the same title. Doyle admits now that when he wrote the story he hadn't the slightest conception of its film possibilities. He painted a vivid word picture of a lost world in the vast, unexplored regions of the upper Amazon river which Time had forgotten.

There Doyle's band of adventurers found prehistoric monsters that roamed the earth 10,000,000 years ago and battled each other to the death as in the days of old.

Into the heart of this monster-infested district went this party of explorers—three men and a girl. Their mission was to rescue her father, if he still lived, and prove to the world the existence of the prehistoric beasts—the brontosaurus, bigger than ten elephants; the tyrannosaurus, most fearsome creature that ever stalked this earth; the stegosaurus, triceratops, the pterodactyl, or great flying dragon, and other gigantic species.

As the modern humans watched, awe-inspired, these monsters gave deadly battle to one another—such battles as never before have been witnessed on a motion picture screen.

GAINS FAME AS POET AND WRITER

Miss Islay McColl's Fame Extends Abroad And Verses Quoted

LINES TO RUSS WOLFHOUND

Minneapolis Journal Also Recently Published Ambitious Poem

Miss Islay McColl long ago achieved fame locally as a poet and writer. More recently this fame has been going abroad and her talent is being recognized elsewhere. In the September issue of "Candy and Soda Profits," a monthly publication for confectioners and soda fountain owners, is published one of her efforts, under the heading, "Islay McColl, Minnesota Poet," as follows:

"Candy and Soda Profits is glad to introduce Miss Islay McColl, of Brainerd, Minnesota, to confectioners throughout the Northwest. Already her verses have appeared in several publications for she possesses originality of conception and the 'singing soul' always found in those who 'see just a little farther' than the average man or woman.

"In literary circles the development of her art is being closely followed. Miss McColl, who is deputy county treasurer, is the daughter of J. D. McColl, Brainerd's oldest confectioner. The following verses, which she generously contributed to this publication, are gladly presented."

To Czar, My Russian Wolfhound

Long he is and lithe of limb,
Ten years have passed over him;
Yet even now, as puppies play,
He'll seize a stick, and then away
He'll run in unfeigned frenzy.

To him I have never lied,
He is faith personified;
Though he cannot question why,
Sometimes he will softly sigh,
His calm eyes filled with wonder.

I belong to him as much
As he belongs to me, for such Devotion must rewarded be
By my love and sympathy.
(They call him my "white shadow")

When his earth days have passed by,
I'll seek his spirit in the sky;
Perhaps a soft, faint blur I'll see,
Then I'll say: "That must be he,
That old, old, nebulous sun-dog!"

The Minneapolis Journal also recently published a poem from the prolific pen of Miss McColl, giving it a prominent position on the editorial page.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY

Bill Cleary is always a great fellow to tell stories on the other boys. But the long suffering worms have turned at last and they've got a good one on Bill. Cleary, for weeks before the hunting season, has been bragging about his new bird dog. Yesterday the animal named Fanny was given a trial and refused to point or to pick up game. As a sample of everything that a bird dog should not be, said one of the boys, this new $200 bird dog was a howling success.

Dresses and Coats Shown are Pleasing Departure From Styles of Former Years

The interest women have in seeing new styles in garments was evidenced last night when the H. F. Michael Company store was jammed to overflowing with many unable to gain admission when this fall style show opened last night. Hundreds were turned away during the first showing.

The coats displayed showed a most pleasing departure from the styles from former seasons. The flare and the gore have made such a decided change. Furs were used most luxuriously in the trimming of the garments. There were many beautiful shades shown of which pansy was the most striking. The rust shades in pleasing fall hues were much in evidence.

A very great number of styles of dresses were shown and were more sombre in shade than those seen in the spring show. Since blacks are much preferred in silks and satins it could not be otherwise. Some striking dresses were shown in the pencil blue and pansy shades in the wool garments.

Many were the pleasing comments heard as women saw the beauty possible when the flare is properly used.

The shoes shown were mostly pumps and showed the prevalence of black in the fall footwear.

Color was the predominating feature of the hats although a few black hats were shown.

The work of the young women who modeled the garments was delightfully pretty. They modeled the garments as well as professionals and without that marked superficiality so evident in professional models. The H. F. Michael Company are to be congratulated upon being able to secure the service of such splendid young women to assist them.

The credit of the success of the show is largely due Miss Lillian Benson of the garment section who had the selection of styles and combining of the accessories which made the costumes complete.

The show could not have been a success without the matching of hats and shoes which showed that big stocks were necessary to show what was shown. The Mathieson shoe store furnished all shoes worn and Mrs. M. Kracher the hats. Speaking of the show Mr. Michael said that the

Miss Thora Ingebritson Gives 10 Ways in Which Parents Can Cooperate

IMPROVE COMMUNITY HEALTH

Breathe Plenty of Fresh Air, Drink Pure Water, Get Enough Sleep, Etc.

Miss Thora Ingebritson, county nurse, gives 10 ways in which parents can co-operate with the schools in health instruction, and thereby greatly assist the school work of their children and the good health of the community. These 10 health rules were prepared by F. B. Anderson, superintendent of schools of Ada, Minnesota, for the Northwestern Health Journal. They are given herewith:

1. Breathe plenty of fresh air.
2. Drink pure water.
3. Use plenty of pasteurized milk.
4. Get enough sleep.
5. Keep clean.
6. Eat right kind of food and chew it well.
7. Breathe correctly and exercise in the open air.
8. Take care of the teeth.
9. Do not use tobacco.
10. Admit sunshine into your house and your life.

In discussing these points, Miss Ingebritson states that every child should be taught to breathe through the nose. Mouth breathing is usually a symptom of adenoids or other nasal obstructions.

At least 8 hours of sleep for growing children is positively essential; 9 or even 10 hours are better. This sleep should be taken in well ventilated, airy quarters.

Avoid badly lighted, dusty, dirty, overheated, crowded or damp rooms, these are the places where whooping cough, scarlet fever, measles, colds, pneumonia, diphtheria, scarlet fever and tuberculosis are contracted.

Dr. Lowrey, of the child guidance clinic of the University of Minnesota, has traced much of the irritability and restlessness of school children to improper diet, and for this reason the county nurse will be glad to submit proposed diets for school children to mothers of the county who desire them. Fresh fruits, when obtainable, are strongly advised as a part of every person's diet, and when they cannot be secured they should be substituted with dried fruits that are rich in iron and are a tonic for the blood.

Miss Ingebritson believes that if parents will follow Prof. Anderson's 10 rules for health, their children will be more regular in attendance at school, their efficiency will be increased, and they will receive much better marks in their studies. In addition, there will be little danger of contracting dreaded diseases which may impair the child's health for a number of years, and might result in death.

Novick-Siegel

The wedding of Miss Helen Katherine Siegel, and Felix P. Novick took place on Wednesday morning at 8:20 o'clock at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father James Hogan, pastor of the church, officiating.

The altar steps were adorned with large ferns and red and white lilies. The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, and was met there by the groom and his attendant. The wedding march by Lohengrin was played by Miss Mae Tierney.

Miss Mary Siegel, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Joseph Novick, the groom's brother, acted as best man.

The bride was attired in a tan suit with hat to match, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid wore a dress of reindeer twill and carried an arm bouquet of pink tea roses. Her hat was of reindeer velvet and ribbon.

Following the ceremony a four-course breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, the decorations being in pink and white. Fifty-two guests were present.

Both contracting parties are well known in Brainerd. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Siegel, 207 Third avenue, Northeast. She attended the parochial school in the city and the Villa at Duluth. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novick, 501 B street, Northeast, and is employed in the car department of the local Northern Pacific shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Novick will spend their honeymoon at St. Francis Fort, Canada, and will be at home about September 26th at 207 Third Avenue.

F. M. McCABE ADVERTISING MGR.

Both Men, Wounded in War, Received Thorough Veterans Training

Ralph E. Quinn and F. M. McCabe, two former Brainerd men, who left to enlist in the army when the United States went into the World war, are now associated together in the field of journalism. Mr. Quinn as editor and Mr. McCabe as advertising manager of "Candy and Soda Profits" a trade journal issued monthly in the twin cities.

Both men were wounded in the war, and received veterans training, each specializing in the work that they are now doing. Mr. Quinn was train dispatcher on the Minnesota & International railway while he lived in Brainerd.

Of the proportions which the confectionery and ice cream industry has attained in Minnesota, "Candy and Soda Profits" gives some figures which are of general interest, and which are taken from the federal census bureau. They are as follows:

"In 1921, for this industry, there were 87 establishments, employing 1,312 wage earners, at total wages of $1,212,461, and the total value of the products was $7,927,323.

"In 1923, there were 84 establishments, employing 1,452 wage earners, at total wages of $1,328,358, and the total value of the products was $9,736,628. These are the most recent figures available."

"LOST WORLD" IS NOW MOVIE

Famous Author's Master Novel of Prehistoric Monsters Opens at New Park Friday

Probably the most unusual love drama ever put on the screen is "The Lost World," which opens at the New Park theatre Friday for three days.

The picture is an adaptation of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel of the same title. Doyle admits now that when he wrote the story he hadn't the slightest conception of its film possibilities. He painted a vivid word picture of a lost world in the vast, unexplored regions of the upper Amazon river which Time had forgotten.

There Doyle's band of adventurers found prehistoric monsters that roamed the earth 10,000,000 years ago and battled each other to the death as in the days of old.

Into the heart of this monster-infested district went this party of explorers—three men and a girl. Their mission was to rescue her father, if he still lived, and prove to the world the existence of the prehistoric beasts—the brontosaurus, bigger than ten elephants; the tyrannosaurus, most fearsome creature that ever stalked this earth; the stegosaurus, triceratops, the pterodactyl, or great flying dragon, and other gigantic species.

As the modern humans watched, awe-inspired, these monsters gave deadly battle to one another—such battles as never before have been witnessed on a motion picture screen.

GAINS FAME AS POET AND WRITER

Miss Islay McColl's Fame Extends Abroad And Verses Quoted

LINES TO RUSS WOLFHOUND

Minneapolis Journal Also Recently Published Ambitious Poem

Miss Islay McColl long ago achieved fame locally as a poet and writer. More recently this fame has been going abroad and her talent is being recognized elsewhere. In the September issue of "Candy and Soda Profits," a monthly publication for confectioners and soda fountain owners, is published one of her efforts, under the heading, "Islay McColl, Minneapolis Poet," as follows:

"Candy and Soda Profits is glad to introduce Miss Islay McColl, of Brainerd, Minnesota, to confectioners throughout the Northwest. Already her verses have appeared in several publications for she possesses originality of conception and the 'singing soul' always found in those who 'see just a little farther' than the average man or woman.

"In literary circles the development of her art is being closely followed. Miss McColl, who is deputy county treasurer, is the daughter of J. D. McColl, Brainerd's oldest confectioner. The following verses, which she generously contributed to this publication, are gladly presented:

To Czar, My Russian Wolfhound
Long he is and lithe of limb,
Ten years have passed over him;
Yet even now, as puppies play,
He'll seize a stick, and then away
He'll run in unfeigned frenzy.

To him I have never lied,
He is faith personified,
Though he cannot question why,
Sometimes he will softly sigh,
His calm eyes filled with wonder.

I belong to him as much
As he belongs to me, for such Devotion must rewarded be
By my love and sympathy.
(They call him my "white shadow")

When his earth days have passed by,
I'll seek his spirit in the sky.
Perhaps a soft, faint blur I'll see,
Then I'll say: "That must be he,
That noble, nebulous sun-dog!"

The Minneapolis Journal also recently published a poem from the prolific pen of Miss McColl, giving it a prominent position on the editorial page.

NEXT YEAR'S BASEBALL PROSPECTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 17.—Right in the midst of two exciting pennant races it may be out of order to speculate on the result of the 1926 major league championship race, but bids are being made already.

Smart fans who saw the series between the Athletics and the Senators when a pitched battle was being staged for the American league pennant expressed the opinion that the Athletics were a cinch for the championship next year if they didn't land this year.

The Athletics lacked only experience and a first baseman. Next year they will have both. They are sure to benefit by the hard fight they had to wage this season, and Joe Hauser, out of the game all year with a bad knee, will be back on first base next year.

Connie Mack, the veteran leader of the Athletics, didn't feel way down in his heart that his team would win the pennant this year, but he felt certain that 1926 would be his year if he failed to land this year, according to one of his close friends.

"Mack, of course, knew that he had a good team and he did his best to make the players believe it. He told every one that they were going to win the pennant and they believed it but they didn't have the confidence that comes from experience. They'll have that next year," his friend says.

Washington has a great ball club—as good as any in the major leagues—but Bucky Harris in making plans for the future faces the same problems that Miller Huggins had three years ago with the New York Yankees.

Harris must get some young blood on the club. His players are all veterans and it will take time to find and develop young players to fill their places.

Walter Johnson, Stanley Coveleskie and Dutch Reuther, the mainstays of the Washington pitching staff this year, may not be able to win a dozen games next season and the other members of the staff are no infants by any means.

Harris is not being caught asleep as Huggins was. The Washington owners are picking up every good prospect they can find in the major leagues and they are now in such a financial condition that they can afford to bid and pay high for the prospects that are recommended to them by their scouts.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are a young ball club and they look good for a long stretch. The team could use another first baseman but it has done mighty well as it stands.

The Giants may be reorganized by John McGraw. There isn't anything wrong particularly with any of his players, but as a team they seemed to have gone stale and McGraw is a great believer in the theory that a change of uniform is good for a player.

Babe Ruth must have had a slight shock at least when the officials of the Yankees told him—"Go ahead. Nobody would have you!" after he had threatened to quit the team.

Three years ago, you would have been imprisoned if you said that the Babe couldn't find a job in baseball outside of the Yankees, but the mighty fall fast when they start to fall.

O'Brien Scores Hit As Two-Fisted Hero In Latest Photoplay

If Larry Evans had written his interesting story, "Once to Every man," with the sole view of providing a motion picture vehicle for George O'Brien, the youthful, athletic William Fox star, he could not have done better. "The Fighting Heart," screen version of this Saturday Evening Post story, directed by John Ford, maker of "The Iron Horse," opened at the Park theatre last night and closes tonight proved to be an ideal picture for O'Brien.

Famous Author's Master Novel of Prehistoric Monsters on Park Screen Tomorrow

Probably the most unusual love drama ever put on the screen is "The Lost World," which comes to the New Park theatre tomorrow for 3 days.

The picture is an adaptation of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel of the same title. Doyle admits now that when he wrote the story he hadn't the slightest conception of its film possibilities. He painted a vivid word picture of a lost world in the vast, unexplored regions of the upper Amazon river which Time had forgot.

Faced with the task of being prompt at appointments or losing the millions of his rich uncle who has determined to educate him in his one weakness of being continually late, Richard Talmadge gets into more scrapes in "Jimmie's Millions," showing at the Lyceum tonight and Friday, than a scrappy cat at a dog show. Getting thrown into jail, jail breaks, being accused of murder, chases and a hundreds other difficulties beset his path in the endeavor to be on time, and the riotous situations evolved make this picture one of the most amusing and thrilling that has been released in many months.

Mix Has Surprise In Latest Picture

A medieval sequence in a modern western picture—that's the treat that Tom Mix, the William Fox star, has in store for his "fans" when his newest picture, "The Lucky Horse-shoe," comes to the Lyceum theatre Sunday for a 2 day engagement. The medieval Spanish scenes, in which Tom plays the role of Don Juan, are the result of a dream that the hero has while living on a western ranch and hopelessly in love with the girl who has inherited the great property.

The word coroner is from the Latin "corona," a crown, and it implies that a coroner represents the sovereign in the performance of the duties of his office. There were coroners in 925, but it is not known what their duties were. The office of coroner as it exists today was created by British act of parliament in 1276.

BETTER PRICES
FOR FARMERS OF
GRAIN STATESCANADIAN WHEAT HAS STOPPED
COMING INTO UNITED
STATESFURTHER HARDSHIPS FOR AMERICAN MILLERS IS SEEN

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Better prices for the farmers of the grain growing states but little if any chance for lower bread prices to the consumer was the indication today of a commerce department survey of Canadian wheat imports, covering the period since April, 1924, when a heavier tariff went into effect.

Canadian wheat has virtually stopped coming into the United States, only 70,000 bushels being imported so far this year as compared with 7,327,000 in 1924.

Canada's crop has nearly doubled this year, being estimated at 400,000,000 bushels, while this country's crop is expected to be 100,000,000 bushels less than in 1924.

Further hardships for American millers is seen in a new move by their Canadian competitors, who have obtained the support of their government for an export tax on wheat which is to be ground in American mills for export to other countries.

At present American millers are importing Canadian wheat without paying duty for the purpose of producing export flour and the action of the Canadians promises to cut off this supply of material, according to information received by the commerce department.

This would about cut off American mills from competing with Canadian mills as the American wheat production is not much larger this year than the normal domestic demand. Such a condition will be likely to send up prices beyond the level at present and is due to the unusual condition of a bumper Canadian crop and a subnormal crop in the United States, a factor that had not been anticipated and which would not be likely to be repeated.

HEAVY SELLING IN TODAY'S MARKET

New York, Sept. 17.—Heavy selling came in today's market after further aggressive advances in the morning's dealings.

Before the general list turned reactionary new highs on the current rise were reached by an impressive list of representative issues including Consolidated Gas, Western Union, American Car and Foundry, Pullman, Chrysler and United States Rubber.

Interruption of these demonstrations was largely the result of an overbought speculative situation. Tuesday's reaction brought about some correction of the technical condition, but this movement was followed by a resumption of aggressive operations for the rise in practically the entire industrial list. As a consequence the inside position of some of the industrial leaders became waterlogged from the presence of an overextended long account.

Professionals who detected this state of affairs succeeded in dislodging some weak holdings of stocks like American Can, United States Steel, General Motors, Studebaker and other recent leaders. Pressure on these stocks included profit taking elsewhere and the general list displayed considerable irregularity in the afternoon dealings. The market closed irregular.

MILWAUKEE ROAD WANTS TO HAUL TIMBER

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Receivers for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway today asked the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to build a 13-mile extension to connect the line with large timber tracts in Missoula county, Montana, from which they hope to derive $125,000 revenue annually. The move is part of the rehabilitation program of the receivers.

PROPOSED CONSOLIDATING OMAHA AND NORTHWESTERN

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—(UP)—A proposed general consolidation of the Northwestern and Omaha railroads has met with opposition from holders of Omaha shares, it was learned here today.

The plan provided for exchange of stocks at the rate of three shares of Northwestern common for two shares of Omaha preferred and five of Northwestern common for seven of Omaha common.

Holders of Omaha common protest that the scheme is preferential to preferred stockholders. Only 25 per cent of Omaha stock has been turned in for exchange.

NEXT YEAR'S BASEBALL PROSPECTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 17.—Right in the midst of two exciting pennant races it may be out of order to speculate on the result of the 1926 major league championship race, but bids are being made already.

Smart fans who saw the series between the Athletics and the Senators when a pitched battle was being staged for the American league pennant expressed the opinion that the Athletics were a cinch for the championship next year if they didn't land this year.

The Athletics lacked only experience and a first baseman. Next year they will have both. They are sure to benefit by the hard fight they had to wage this season, and Joe Hauser, out of the game all year with a bad knee, will be back on first base next year.

Connie Mack, the veteran leader of the Athletics, didn't feel way down in his heart that his team would win the pennant this year, but he felt certain that 1926 would be his year if he failed to land this year, according to one of his close friends.

"Mack, of course, knew that he had a good team and he did his best to make the players believe it. He told every one that they were going to win the pennant and they believed it but they didn't have the confidence that comes from experience. They'll have that next year," his friend says.

Washington has a great ball club—as good as any in the major leagues—but Bucky Harris in making plans for the future faces the same problems that Miller Huggins had three years ago with the New York Yankees.

Harris must get some young blood on the club. His players are all veterans and it will take time to find and develop young players to fill their places.

Walter Johnson, Stanley Coveleskie and Dutch Reuther, the mainstays of the Washington pitching staff this year, may not be able to win a dozen games next season and the other members of the staff are no infants by any means.

Harris is not being caught asleep as Huggins was. The Washington owners are picking up every good prospect they can find in the major leagues and they are now in such a financial condition that they can afford to bid and pay high for the prospects that are recommended to them by their scouts.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are a young ball club and they look good for a long stretch. The team could use another first baseman but it has done mighty well as it stands.

The Giants may be reorganized by John McGraw. There isn't anything wrong particularly with any of his players, but as a team they seemed to have gone stale and McGraw is a great believer in the theory that a change of uniform is good for a player.

Babe Ruth must have had a slight shock at least when the officials of the Yankees told him—"Go ahead. Nobody would have you!" after he had threatened to quit the team.

Three years ago, you would have been imprisoned if you said that the Babe couldn't find a job in baseball outside of the Yankees, but the mighty fall fast when they start to fall.

AMUSEMENTS

O'Brien Scores Hit As Two-Fisted Hero In Latest Photoplay

If Larry Evans had written his interesting story, "Once to Every Man," with the sole view of providing a motion picture vehicle for George O'Brien, the youthful, athletic William Fox star, he could not have done better. "The Fighting Heart," screen version of this Saturday Evening Post story, directed by John Ford, maker of "The Iron Horse," opened at the Park theatre last night and closes tonight proved to be an ideal picture for O'Brien.

Famous Author's Master Novel of Prehistoric Monsters on Park Screen Tomorrow

Probably the most unusual love drama ever put on the screen is "The Lost World," which comes to the New Park theatre tomorrow for 3 days.

The picture is an adaptation of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel of the same title. Doyle admits now that when he wrote the story he hadn't the slightest conception of its film possibilities. He painted a vivid word picture of a lost world in the vast, unexplored regions of the upper Amazon river which Time had forgot.

Faced with the task of being prompt at appointments or losing the millions of his rich uncle who has determined to educate him in his own weakness of being continually late, Richard Talmadge gets into more scrapes in "Jimmie's Millions," showing at the Lyceum tonight and Friday, than a scrappy cat at a dog show. Getting thrown into jail, jail breaks, being accused of murder, chases and a hundreds other difficulties beset his path in the endeavor to be on time, and the riotous situations evolved make this picture one of the most amusing and thrilling that has been released in many months.

Mix Has Surprise In Latest Picture

A medieval sequence in a modern western picture—that's the treat that Tom Mix, the William Fox star, has in store for his "fans" when his newest picture, "The Lucky Horse-shoe," comes to the Lyceum theatre Sunday for a 2 day engagement. The medieval Spanish scenes, in which Tom plays the role of Don Juan, are the result of a dream that the hero has while living on a western ranch and hopelessly in love with the girl who has inherited the great property.

"Bringing Up Father in Gay New York"

The latest of the "Bringing Up Father" series, based on the world-famous cartoons of the same title by George McManus, will be the next attraction at the Park theatre, Monday evening, September 21st. Lifting music, pretty girls, screams, surprises, novelties and other inimitable features are promised.

Coroner's an Old Office

The word coroner is from the Latin "corona," a crown, and it implies that a coroner represents the sovereign in the performance of the duties of his office. There were coroners in 925, but it is not known what their duties were. The office of coroner as it exists today was created by British act of parliament in 1270.

BETTER PRICES
FOR FARMERS OF
GRAIN STATESCANADIAN WHEAT HAS STOPPED
STATES

FURTHER HARDSHIPS FOR AMERICAN MILLERS IS SEEN

Washington, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Better prices for the farmers of the grain growing states but little if any chance for lower bread prices to the consumer was the indication today of a commerce department survey of Canadian wheat imports, covering the period since April, 1924, when a heavier tariff went into effect.

Canadian wheat has virtually stopped coming into the United States, only 70,000 bushels being imported so far this year as compared with 7,327,000 in 1924.

Canada's crop has nearly doubled this year, being estimated at 400,000,000 bushels, while this country's crop is expected to be 100,000,000 bushels less than in 1924.

Further hardships for American millers is seen in a new move by their Canadian competitors, who have obtained the support of their government for an export tax on wheat which is to be ground in American mills for export to other countries.

At present American millers are importing Canadian wheat without paying duty for the purpose of producing export flour and the action of the Canadians promises to cut off this supply of material, according to information received by the commerce department.

This would about cut off American mills from competing with Canadian mills as the American wheat production is not much larger this year than the normal domestic demand. Such a condition will be likely to send up prices beyond the level at present and is due to the unusual condition of a bumper Canadian crop and a subnormal crop in the United States, a factor that had not been anticipated and which would not be likely to be repeated.

Watch Your Frail, Puny Child Grow Strong--Take on Weight

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamt of—these wonderful flesh making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets will start to help any weak, thin, undernourished little one.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine and they surely do it. They do put on flesh.

Ask H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and other good druggists for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—as easy to take as candy and not at all expensive—60 tablets 60 cents.

Be sure and get McCoy's the original and genuine and give the child a chance for 30 days. If you aren't delighted with results you get your money back.
